The Imperial Proclamation Does Not Appease the People.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT IS SUPPRESSED

Japan Not Prepared To Fight the Three Big Powers.

NOTHING TO DO BUT TO YIELD TO THEM

But if China Has Not Had Enough War, the Little Empire Will Give It To Har Harder Than Before

Tokio, Japan, May 17 .- (From a Staff Correspondent.)-Japan is ablaze with indigna tion at the government. Ito and Mutzu will do well if they hold their places in the face of the public clamor for their retirement. They may start hostilities again and the chances are that they will at the slightest provocation. If China gives any excuse, as she is liable to do with Russia's supposed sympathy and backing, Premier Ito will seize upon it eagerly to renew the fighting. This would strengthen him with

To tranquilize the popular feeling the ministry issued an imperial rescript, or proclamation. It was a carefully worded document intended to persuade the people that the ministry was not coerced into abandoning its Manchurian concessions from China. It reads as follows:

We recently complied with the request of China and in consequence appointed plenipotentiaries and caused them to confer with the plenipotentiaries appointed by China to conclude a treaty of peace between the two empires. Since then the governments of their majesties, the emperors of Russia and of Germany and of the republic of France have united in a recommendation to our government not to permanently possess the peninsula of Peng Tre, our newly acquired territory, on the that such permanent possession would be detrimental to the lasting peace of the orient. Devoted, as we unalterably are and have ever been, to the principles of peace, we were constrained to take up arms against China for no other reason than our desire to secure for the orient an enduring "peace. Now the friendly recommendat'on of the three powers was equally prompted by the same desire. Consulting, therefore, the best interests of peace and animated by a desire not to bring upon our people added hardships or to impede the progress of the national destiny by creating new complications and thereby making the situation difficult, and retarding the restoration of peace, we do not hesitate to accent such recommendation.

"By concluding the treaty of peace China has already shown sincerity and regret for the violations of her agreements and there by the justice of our cause has been proclaimed to the world. Under these circum stances we can find nothing to impair the honor and dignity of our empire if we now yield to the dictates of magnanimity and take into consideration the general situation and accept the advice of the friendly powers. Accordingly we have recommended our government and have caused them to reply to the three powers in the above sense. Regarding the arrangements by which we will renounce the permanent possession of the peninsula, we have specially commanded our government that the necessary measures shall be made the subject of future negotiations and adjustment of the government of China. The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace has been effected, the friendly relations be-tween the two empires has been re-established and cordial relations with all other powers are also strengthened. We, there fore, command our subjects to respect our will, to take into careful consideration the general situation, to be circumspect in all things, to avoid erroneous tendencies and not to impair or thwart the highest aspira-

It Does Not Fool the Peoule.

While the rescript is a document of carefully selected words appealing to that divine reverence which is supposed to exist among the people towards the emperor the way it is put is rather a reflection upon the enlightenment of the Japanese people It is an effort to pull the wool over the eyes of the people. Yet it does though for the time being their worshipful espect for the emperor suppresses any at demonstration of disapproval, Among ministry, the people and the antis, among all the people of Japan there is a feeling of humiliation that the country shald, when gathering in the truits of its gat victory over China, have been coerced by stronger powers into abandoning a portion of its winnings. The weak feature of the rescript is the attempt to create the impression that the ministry acted upon friendly advice, and not under coercion. One of the ministers has explained indirectly to the world the true position of the ministry. "The foreign powers, including Russia," said he, "were ade aware of the territorial demands. Japan had made upon China in response to the appeal for peace. Not one of them made objection. Germany only tandered advice against, and she never indicated that she would interfere. It was understood that Russia would make ao objec tions, yet, after the terms had been agreed by the envoys of both China and and the treaty ratified, Russia,

France and Germany came forward with a joint peremptory demand. Japan only could do as she did. We were in no condition for war with these united powers. But for Russia's deception, the embarrassment of Japan would have been avoided. Had the allied powers spoken when they were advised of Japan's demands for the Liao-Tong peninsula, that territory would not have been included in the terms of peace.'s Did the Best They Could. Counts Ito and Mutzu realize their posi-tion, though they do not feel guilty of criminal error. They feel that Russia has deceived Japan intentionally, and are, therefore, bitterly hostile to the Russian government, particularly so because the people of Japan feel chagrined and hold them responsible. It may force them to resign. The emperor's rescript has not aroused one particle of enthusiasm in all of Japan, The people, naturally enthusiastic and mercurial, have received it with silence. The acquirement of Formosa and the moneyed indemnity are lost sight of in the fact that Japan has been coerced into relinquishing the Manchurian territory. The newspapers, fearing to criticise the ministry, have but little to say. Indeed, so many have been suppressed recently, that those now publishing are handling matters gingerly. They are compelled to do so. A press censor examines the first

The general feeling of the press and people is, however, well expressed in this brief editorial which The Nippon managed to get by the press censor: "An imperial rescript has been issued. Who, that has blood in his veins, can read it without shedding tears?"

Not a cheer has been heard in all Japan in response to the rescript announcing peace. It is unsatisfactory and humiliating to the war spirit of the people. After having celebrated a continuation of victories over China for seven months, the last announcement falls like a wet blanket upon them. All the tact and diplomacy of the ministry will be required to prevent a great uprising against the present govern-

Mutzu Has a Body Guard.

Mutzu, the minister of foreign affairs, says that popular feeling against the ministry is not as intense as he anticipated. He has, however, taken occasion to have himself carefully guarded in order not to prove the mark of the bullet or dagger of some soshi.

Though the Japanese newspapers are not permitted to publish expressions of popular sentiment, to The Constitution's corres pendent several of the Tokio editors sail today that public sentiment was so cutraged over the manner in which, the government handled the peace negotiations that Ministers Ito and Mutzu would have to resign or they would be assassinated for their part in the revolution.

An editor of the largest of the Tokio newspapers says that the people revere and respect the emperor, but on all hands the ministry is denounced and Ito and Mutzu will be forced to resign, "The people are incensed," he continued, because Ito has been outwitted and has brought shame upon Japan. He should have known in advance that Russia, France and Germany would not permit Japan to acquire the Liao-Tong peninsula." It as he says, Russia had given assurance that she would not interfere. Ito should not, have relied upon that implicitly. He should have required of China a formal agreement in treaty of peace that if objections were made by other powers to Japan's possession of Liao-Tong peninsula, China should agree to the payment of an additional indemnity for the return of the territory. Now, Japan must return the territory and cannot force China to increase the indepativ without violating the treaty and again declaring war. Should she do that, she would merit the contempt of the civilized world. Japan could not have afforded war with Russia, France and Germany combined. The people realize that, but they are humiliated that Japan loses her Manchurian territory and gets nothing in return. The great victories of her war with China are now beclouded. Japan is humiliated because of the bungling of the ministers and the people will not be satisfied with anything dess than their resignations. Then we must prepare for what is to come. Japan cannot rest content with the present results." The cnly acknowledgment of the emperor's rescript in Tokio is flying of flags from government buildings, and a few from the shops. The latter are put out under peremptory orders from the police, The people are almost in a state of rebellion against the ministers. Each one is carefully guarded.

Foreigners Are in Danger. The government has also taken extra pre caution to protect foreigners. The feeling against them is intense, and unfortunately the lower classes do not distinguish be tween nationalities. Admiral Kaboyama. the newly appointed governor of Formosa, has sailed from Hiroshima to take pos session of the island and establish the new government. A section of the Japanese navy is en route as are also transports bearing some 20,000 troops drawn from the force at Port Arthur. Though all sorts of rumors have come of the preparations for resistance, the government does not expect much. There are said to be 5,000 Chinese troops on the island determined to resist the Japanese taking possession. Japanese, however, think they will surrender, as the Chinese troops have done in practically every battle of the war. Fiv thousand troops are reported en route from Canton, sent by the emperor of China to see that the island is delivered over to Japan. Rumor is that these troops will join those on the island to resist the Japanese, but the war office here has no such apprehensions, All Chinese soldiers are looked upon with contempt by the Japa nese. Chelera in Formosa is much feared. It has caused the death of hundreds of the troops sent to the Pescadores and has developed on every transport bearing troops from Port Arthur, There have been many deaths among the troops at Kiromasa and official reports show it to have de-

NEW YORK'S ROOM.

The Ladies Meet and Read Encouraging Reports on Their Work.

THEIR EXHIBIT WILL BE A FINE ONE Everything Points To Their Having

Plenty of Money.

MANY HANDSOME DONATIONS PROMISED

Still They Continue To Solicit the Work of Women's Brain and Hand-Miss Powell Complimented.

New York, May 31.-The ladies forming the committees that are engaged in gathering exhibits for the city of New York room at the Atlanta exposition, met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Joseph Bradley Read, chairman of the woman's board of this city. The ladies present included: Mrs. Theodore Sutro, Miss Marie DeVelasco, Mrs. John Sargeant Wise, Mrs. Frank Northrup, Mrs. Fannie B. Merrill, Mrs. Henry Hoyt Cahoon, Mrs. Frank Sittig and Mrs. Charles Terry. Mrs. J. B. Read presided and Mrs. Sutro was secretary. The chair read several documents and letters from the Atlanta board concerning the work of the New York committees. They stated that the southern transportation lines will carry exhibits free to and from Atlanta, and that they will also be hauled free to and from the exposition

Mrs. Sutro, who is at the head of the committee on music and law, reported that in this state the conservatories of music, the music publishers and all educational institutions in which women are admitted, have been invited by the committee to send them any music composed by wome which they may see fit to offer for exhibition. The women composers of the state have also been asked to send copies of their works with photographs and medals. People have also been invited to send in books about women musicians. Mrs. Sutro also invited the ladies present to ald her in promoting the success of an entertainment which the committee will give shortly in aid of the music department

Mrs. J. B. Read, who presides over the committee on interior decoration, and is likewise chairman of the woman's department of this city, reported that she had spoken to many prominent merchants in regard to decorating at their own expense the New York room. They all regarded favorably the proposal, and she felt assured that the room will be an attractive and beautiful feature of the woman's building. A leading firm had offered to provide a splendid organ for the New York room and will send there an organist to give afnoon and evening performances on it: At the instance of Mrs. H. G. Holtzberg the Ceylon Tea Company, she said, will establish a tea table in the New York room with native women in attendance. Miss DeVelasco reported that the wo men's exchanges could not exhibit as such, owing to lack of time, but the exhibits of woman's work from this city will be sent individually.

Other satisfactory committee reports were made by Mrs. Sittig, of the co tee on inventions; by Mrs. Charles Terry, the head of the Brooklyn department, and Mrs. Cahoon, of the press committee.

Before adjourning the ladies voted thanks ency and executive ability in organizing the New York committees. Thanks were also voted to Mr. and Mrs. Boldt, of the Waldorf hotel, for promoting the success of the entertainment given there for the benefit of the New York board.

EXPOSITION EXCURSIONS. Half a Dozen Vestibule Trains Will

New York, May 31 .- (Special.) -- Prepara tions are fast being made by all of the lines running south to boom the big Cotton States and International exposition. A cor centrated effort is to be made by the railroads to attract travel to the south from the north in the fall. All the railroads which run to or have connections with Atlanta will lend a helping hand, On most of the lines special excursions will be run at attractive rates. Half a dozen vestibuled trains a day will be run out of New York city alone, making the trip in about twenty-four hours. The Southern coastwise steamship lines will also offer inducements to travelers. Some of the lines promise special rates to military companies and uniformed bodies. The Seaboard Air-Line, too; will run a series of personally conducted excursions in charge of experienced passenger representatives. The Southern's handsome railroad terminus on the grounds is much talked of among railroad men.

Since that time it has steadily increased until May 28th, when the figure representing the reserve was $98,263,533. Today the reserve amounted to $99.048,872-a gain of $785,339.

PHIL BRADY IS FREE.

His Father Has the Drafts and Is Coming Home.

Emporia, Kans., May 31.—(Special.)—Phil I. Brady was here again this afternoon. The young Georgian was arrested here on a telegram charging him with eloping with Nellie A. Stone, a nineteén-year-old girl from Oklahoma City. After being released under a writ of habeas corpus he was again arrested charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and again released under a writ of habeas corpus. Then he was almost immediately kidnaped on the principal street of this city by Oklahoma officers and forcibly taken to the territory in irons. He arrived here this afternoon in company with his father, T. B. Brady, of Atlanta, and his attorney, John Madden. A hearing of the charges against him den. A hearing of the charges against nim in Oklahoma City resulted in the cases being thrown out of court, and Brady was ordered released. A letter from the young lady, who is now with her mother and aunt in Kanssa City, exonerated Brady from all improper conduct with her. The draft on which he was accused of obtaining money under false pretenses is now in the possession of his father with several others which had been honored and paid. Mr. Brady started for Atlanta tonight, and has left the case in the hands of Mr. Madden.

The Volume of Business Is Short for

THEIR HOLD GAINS

Slight Improvement in Some Lines Reported by Southern Cities.

LABOR TROUBLES ARE CLEARING UP

Estimated Above 13.5 Per Cent. Which Means 8,400,000 Bales.

New York, May 31 .- Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"The observance of Memorial Day services served to check the volume of general trade this week, but there has been a further shrinkage in the amount of business transacted, due to not altogether wellfounded fears of serious damage to the grain crops. The bank clearings total for the week is only $833,000,000, but this is 17 per cent heavier than in the corresponding week, also one day short, in 1894. As contrasted with last week the shrinkage is 25 per cent and with the week two years ago during the panic, 7 per cent. Compared with the last week in May, 1892, the falling off this week is 13 per cent. "The tendency of prices this week is again upward, notably so for steel and iron, which are in better demand, despite higher prices, as are cereals and cotton and leather and shoes, which, with some other sta-ples, in all sixteen, close higher on the week. Wool continues in slow sale, interfor prices being above what eastern manufacturers are willing to pay. Cotton goods remain firm on the strength of cotton, but staple cottons move slowly, as operators are still well supplied. Woolen dress goods are quiet, but the mills are said to have a good number of orders for fall delivery. There are some gains at the south, with improved agricultural prospects in Tennessee affecting business at Nashville. Memphis and Chattanooga. Only a moderately active demand in a few lines is announced from Atlanta, Savannah and at Jackson ville, where the vegetable crop is the lar gest for years. There is an improved de mand at New Orleans and buyers are show ing more of a tendency to anticipate wants." What Dun & Co. Say.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade omorrow will say: "More far-reaching than any other change during the past week, if really war-ranted by facts, is the continued rise in prices of wheat and cotton. Real scarcity of either would affect all business. Happily there is still room to hope that the ac-counts of injuty are greatly exaggerated, although there has been some evidence during the week that both the great crops have suffered more than at first appeared. Other changes are almost all favorable and some highly encouraging. Labor troubles are clearly less threatening. Monetary conditions are satisfactory and the substantial horsess in the commercial increases. stantial increase in the commercial de-mand is a good sign. Exchanges through he clearing houses have been greatly in flated by speculation, and at this time last year were cut down by the coal strike and toward the end of May, 1893, greatly re-duced by bank failures, but for the week they exceed last year's by 19 per cent and fall only 5.6 per cent below those of 1893, while the daily average for May is 28.9 per cent larger than last year, but 7.1 per cent less than in 1893. "Cotton continues strong because it i believed there will be much reduction in yield per acre, as well as in acreage. No estimate based on definite information outs the decrease in acreage at more than 13.5 which, with a equal to last year's, would mean a crop of 400,000 bales. Months must pass before there can be anything definite as to th probable yield per acre, unless widespr disaster comes, but the market has b acting as if the future were known. Sp ulation has diminished in volume and the fact that takings of spinners have ex-ceeded the maximum consumption over 400,000 bales in northern states, and about twice as much abroad, makes the commer cial stocks in sight 3.384,552 bales last week look still larger. The advance this weel has been only a sixteenth and it is sup posed that the stronger speculators have realized. The manufacturer is doing well though not all the machinery is employed but the demand has been better and there are occasional advances in prices of goods The Olnevville woolen mills will open Mon day, responding to a request signed by some employes, to see if enough will re turn to make general resumption profitabl Two or three other mills have granted some increase of wages, but in most branches the manufacturers contend with serious difficulties. New orders are scarce and some mills are running short. "The iron manufacture is gaining rapidly and the average of prices, which had fallen February 1st to 54.1 per cent of the prices in October, 1890, have now risen to 59.1 per cent, most of the advance having been in May. Bessemer pig has been lift-ed to $11.65 and gray forge to $10.40 at Pitts burg by the growing demand; tank stee plates are $5 per ton higher at Philadelphia and nail producers have combined, raising wire nails to $1.15 and cut nails to $1 by car loads at Pittsburg. The structural de mand is very large and while the buying in other forms of iron and steel products is still conservative, great confidence prevails that prices will hereafter advance materially. It is believed that the wages question will be settled at Pittsburg this year without any strike.

"Failures for three weeks of May have shown liabilities amounting to $7,455,244, of which $2,642,609 were of manufacturing and $4,230,635 of trading concerns. For the same weeks last year the liabilities amounted to $7.782.633, of which $3.380.812 were of manu facturing and $3,275,275 of trading concerns. The failures during the past week have been 215 in the United States, against 185 last year, and 34 in Canada, against 27 last

FIGHTING THE TIGERS.

Governor Evans Has Given Strice Orders to Constables. Columbia, S. C., May 31.—Governor Brans has given the state liquor constables strict instructions to wage relentless war against the blind tigers and has advise them to seize all liquor packages shipped into the state which in their judgment is not for the "personal use" of the con-signees. In consequence of these instructions and in view of the fact that no one whose liquor has been seized seems dispos-ed to have the constables punished for the violation of Judge Simonton's order of infunction, the constables have become verbold, and this week no end of jugs ar small kegs coming form North Carolina have been seized. Most of these jugs came addressed to the consignee in proper form and bear the additional inscription "for personal use only," yet they have been seized. Today several cifizens of Columbia concluded to submit to this no longer and one swore out a warrant for the arrest of the constables before United States Comconstables before United States Commissioner Banskett for the violation of the linjunction orders. Tomorrow a United States deputy marshal will serve the warrants. Other proceedings of a like character will probably follow.

BLOWN UPON A CORAL REEF. One Hundred and Eighty-Eight Lives

Were Lost on the Colima. San Francisco, May 31.—The following special dispatch from The Chronicle's correspondent in the City of Mexico, contains awful tidings of the Colima's fate:

"City of Mexico, May 30.—It is now 7 o'clock p. m. and not a single press dis-patch has been received over the govern-ment wires from Manzanillo. The single wire circuit between Manzanillo and Mexico city has been kept at a glowing heat all day with official telegrams addressed to and sent by the secretary of war, Don Pedro J. Hinojosa, though a few have also been re-ceived by Major R. B. Gorsuch, Mexican representative of the Pacific Mail Steam-ship Company in this capital. "The substance of these dispatches as received up to this time is as follows: About 8 o'clock on the morning of the 27th, in latitude 1838 north, and longitude 104 degrees, fourteen minutes west, the Colima was struck by a powerful wind and was driven upon a coral reef and sunk, with a large hole stove in her side near the prow. Captain J. F. Taylor, after displaying masterly skill in the management of the vessel, was killed by a falling ast. The first pilot and first engineer were also killed and soon after the boat struck the reef and went down in 130 fathoms of water.

"Nearly twenty-four hours later the coast line steamer, San Juan, picked up sixteen survivors and carried them into the port of Manzanillo. Five others swam ashore at Coahuayuanok and five more—three cabin passengers and two sailors—were subsequently rescued by a government boat sent by the Pacifi Mail at Manzanillo.

"One hundred and eighty-eight persons are known to have been drowned and twenty-six were saved."

Instructions to Our Consuls.

Washington, May 31.—The state department had a telegram from the United States counsul at Mazatlan, Mexico, Wednesday night announcing the report of the wreck of the Colima and stating that there were about half a million dollars' worth of American interests on the vessel and that 170 lives were reported as lost. Assistant Secretary of State Rockbull, on the receipt of this message immediately cabled United States consuls at Acapluco and Mazatlan to do everything in their power to help the survivors. These instruc-tions were very broad and under them out consuls can charter a vessel to help the shipwrecked Americans and incur any reasonable expense to help them Message from a Survivor

Another dispatch from Manzanillo savs "The survivors saw Purser Wafer in a well-manned boat pulling away from the sinking steamer towards shore. It is supposed that this boat is still afloat.", The men who loaded the Colima say that the killing of Captain Taylor, First Officer Criffith and the chief engineer was in all probability not due to falling spars, but to lumber which was loaded on the deck of the vessel. There were several thousand feet of heavy lumber on the deck tied with ropes to the bulwarks. In the storm the wind probably wrenched the lumber loose from its fastenings and it then swept the

One of Them Sank, Carrying Down

Three Persons. Alpena, Mich., May 31.—The steamers Norman and Jack were in collision in a dense fog near Middle island, Lake Huron, last night. The Norman sank, carrying down with her the steward's wife, watch-man and a deck hand. The Jack was afloat at last accounts, but in a badly damaged condition. Her captain, mates and engineer refused to leave her and are still on board. The remainder of the Jack's crew and that of the Norman took to life rafts and small boats and were picked up by the steam barge Sickan and landed here this morning.

SUICIDE OF A YOUNG LADY. Banker's Daughter Blows Her Brains Out.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 31.-Miss Elsle Cole-man, daughter of the late William Coleman, a wealthy banker of this city, com-mitted suicide last night by shooting her-self. Miss Coleman was a prominent society woman and spent the early part of last evening calling upon friends. She was to all appearances in a cheerful mood, and her friends detected nothing about her actions that would indicate anything wrong. Returning to her home at 11 o'clock, she went directly to her room. A few minutes later members of the family heard a pistol shot and hurrying to the girl's room, found that she had blown her brains out with a 42-caliber revolver. Miss Coleman was about twenty years of age and surrounded with all the luxuries that wealth could provide. Her friends are at a loss to determine why she should have taken her own life, but the circumstances indicate premeditation.

THEY MURDERED A COMPANION And Jeffrey and Henderson Were

Hanged for It. Murphysboro, Ill., May 31.—Frank Jeffrey and Dug Henderson, the two murderers, spend last night singing and praying. This morning at 8:15 o'clock Sheriff Wells con-ducted Jeffrey and Hemierson to the scaf-

"I hope to meet you all in heaven."

Jeffrey said: "I am innocent of this

The sheriff then sprung the trap and aften hanging thirty minutes the men pronounced dead. Jeffrey and Henderson paid the death penalty for murdering a companion named James Towle, whom they had previously robbed of $2.50. Major Hardman Killed.

Vanceburg, Ky., June 1.-Major William Hardman, an old and wealthy resident of Hardman, an old and wealthy resident of Lewis county, was found dead yesterday on the road leading to this city. Three rifle balls were in his body. Another rich resident of the county, who had threatened to kill the major some days ago on account of an old feud, is suspected.

A STRANGE ACCIDENT

Cal Parsons Steps on a Pistol and It Kills His Cousin.

PARSONS WAS HANGING DOWN GOODS

Ellis Parsons Was Standing Near To Recoive Them, and Was Directly in the Pistol's Range.

Birmingham, Ala., May 31.-(Special.)-Ellis Parsons, about eighteen years old, was killed this morning at Johns, Ala., on the Birmingham Mineral railroad. Cal Parsons, a seventeen year old boy, was unwittingly and unintentionally the cause of the accident. Cal Parsons is the son of Deputy Sheriff Isaac B. Parsons, and Ellis Parsons was the son of Dock or J. H. Parsons, a constable. Cal Parsons was helping his father move some goods from a store at Johns about 6 o'clock this morning. Ellis Parsons was aiding. Cal Parsons had to mount a shelf to reach some goods on shelves still higher up. In putting his foot upon the shelf he accidentally stepped upon a pistol lying on the shelf and it exploded. Ellis Parsons, who was standing by to receive the bundles as they were to be handed down to him by Cal Parsons, was immediately in the range of the pistol ball. It struck him in the temple and he fell to the floor. Death came in thirty minutes.

AT ANNISTON.

The Closing Exercises of the Southern Female University Are On.

Anniston, Ala., May 31.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises of the Southern Female university began yesterday with a fine art display in the parlors of the university. Last night at the Noble street theater, the university young ladles presented a cantata, with tambourine and parasol drills by the little girls, and songs and recitations. A large audience was present. Tonight at the theater the junior class rendered a delightful programme. Class colors were also presented tonight. Sunday at 8 o'clock p. m. at the First Methodist church, Dr. S. R. Beik, of Rome, will preach the annual commencement sermon. The other features of the commencement are the elecution contest on Monday. June 3d; senior day, literary address and de-livery of diplomas, Tuesday, June 4th, and and awarding of medals on Wednesday, June 5th. Hon. J. I. Graham, of Talladega, will deliver the literary ad-dress, and Colonel John M. Caldwell, of this city, will award the diplomas and medals. This school, which was burned out in Birmingham in November, 1893, has occupied the famous Anniston inn. has had phenomenal success since was moved here. Eighteen gold medals have been donated by appreciative mer-chants and business men, to be awarded to this session's students.

WAS TIRED OF LIVING.

A Farmer in Alabama Attempts Suicide.

Anniston, Ala., May 31.—But Gunter, a wealthy young farmer of Calhoun county, attempted suicide this morning, and there is but little hopes for his recovery. He left home for the field, where his men were at work, but went in another direction and when found was sitting by a tree with his throat cut and several wounds in his chest. He gave as a reason for the act that he was tired of living.

CROPS ARE INJURED.

Cotton in Sandy Lands in Alabama Killed by the Cold.

Montgomery, Ala., May 31.-(Special.)-The cold weather of the past two weeks has materially injured the crops, especially cotton, according to the report of the Alabama state weather service. Until day before yesterday the temperature since May 9th has been below normal, There was fortunately ample moisture to counteract the lack of warmth, and while all growth has been checked, nothing has been seriously injured excepting cotton on sandy lands, which has been entirely killed out in many instances and which will require replanting in most. The ground is now well soaked and plenty of sunshine and warmth is being provided. Grass has gained less head-way than was at first feared, and it is believed another week will find everything growing vigorously again.

Corn has withstood the cold weather better than any other crop, and has been much benefited by the rains. It has regained its healthy green color, and generally speak-ing is in excellent condition. Cut worms ravished it to some extent in the low lands, but farmers have replanted commencement exercises this week at the state Normal callege here has been largely attended, and full of interest. FIRE AT HELENA, ALA. Hotel Building and Three Others Destroyed.

Helena, Ala., May 31.—A very serious fire occurred here this afternoon about 12:30 'clock. It originated in the hotel building owned by C. T. Davidson, an enterprising merchant of our town. The house was oc-cupied at the time by Mr. Marshall. It is supposed the fire was caused by a defective flue in the cook room. Three other large buildings were wrapped in flames. The owners were Mrs. M. A. Davidson, residence; William Argue, large hotel building, occupied by W. F. St. Clair; also a vacant store building, owned by Fite; Lyle, Davis & Co., Nashville, Tenn. Total loss, about $3,000. No one injured. Several people were injured by falling debris, but none seriously.

Geologist McCalley Says There Is Gold in Marshall but It Is Scattered. Montgomery, Ala., May 30.-(Special.)-

Mr. Henry McCalley, state geologist, writes as follows, concerning his investigations into the alleged rich gold fields in Marshall

"I visited last week the much-talked-of gold deposit of Sauty creek. I hate to have to say that it would be one of the gold deposit of Sauty creek. I hate to have to say that it would be one of the wonders of the nineteenth century for this gold find to ever prove of any great importance or value to the state. It is in a layer of gravel or pebbles along the high water level, or from thirty-five to forty feet above low water in the Tennessee river. This gravelly or pebbly layer is some three feet thick and from about seventy-five to 150 yards broad. It has been traced for some three miles, though it is doubtless much more extensive, fit is doubtless much more extensive, fit rests directly on unbroken bedded subcarboniferous and silurian strata and is covered usually four to five feet in places by a yellowish or mulatfo sandy loam and in other places by a mottled or light-colored plaster ciay. The pebbles are mostly of quartz, though some of them are of chirt, sandstone, etc. The quartz pebbles, with the few of crystalline, are rounded or water worn, while some of the others from non-crystalline rocks or non-gold bearing rocks are more or less angular, thus showing that they have not been transported as far, some of them being almost in placers. These pebbles vary in size from large cannon balls to small shot. Their matrix, of light and orange colored sands and of plastic clay, carries a great deal of black magnetic sand:

"The gold is seemingly of very good qualty, though some of it has reddish magnetic sand:

"The gold is seemingly of very good qualty, though some of it has reddish or rusty points from the exidation of pyrites that once accompanied it. It, so far as I have seen, is mostly a coarse angular gold in flat sheets and scales from pyrites that once accompanied it. It, so far as I have seen, is mostly a coarse angular gold in flat sheets and scales from half the size of a wheat grain down. Some of it, however, is said to be very fine or flour gold. It panned from the bottom of pits dug down on it from about $1 to about $5 per cubic yard at the northern and southern ends of the deposits. I was prevented, however, from digging my own holes, by the owners at the northern end of the deposit, and by the rain and water at the lower or southern end. The physical character of most of the gold, and especially the flat angular coarse gold, shows most plainly that it has not been rouled very far in loose free pieces as it now is. It must, therefore, have been brought here, unless mun had something to do with its transportation, incased in other rocks from which it was liberated or set free only after these rocks had been deposited here where the gold is now found, for there are no gold-bearing veins or bedded strata hereabouts, notwithstanding the many reports to the contrary. It must, therefore, have come, if nature brought it here, from extreme East Tennessee or the western part of North Carolina, a distance by water of 200 miles and more. Such being the case, it would be something new to the scientific world for this gold deposit to prove a valuable or workable one, though there is not the slightest doubt of the presence here of some true pla er gold. It is merely a question of quantity.

NEWFOUNDLAND HAS A LOAN, But a Great Many of It's Best People

Have Emigrated. St. Johns, N. F., May 31.—The Nefoundland government has obtained a loan which will tide the colony over the serious finan-cial difficulties which have been confronting it. The loan was secured on the condition that a policy of drastic retrenchment be pursued, together with a reconstruction of the public service. An expert examination of and report upon the financial condition of the country will be made. The government will now have $250,000 above its immediate wants, which will enable it to meet any possible deficits to the end of the year, after which it is expected that the revenue and money secured through retrenchment will enable the annual expenditures to be met. There is general rejoicing over the success of Colonial Secretary Bond in floating the loan. Newfoundland is now safe from confederation with Canada and also from being relegated to the position of a crown colony. Railway work will be recommenced immediately and will be prosecuted vigor-Emigration continues. The steamer Silva, which sailed today, took nearly one hundred emigrants, although the fishing season has now opened. The resumption of work on the railway may check the tide, but already many of the flower of the population have left the colony.

GERMANY IS COMPLAINING

Because Russian and French Vessels Did Not Honor Bismarck.

Washington, May 31.—Information has German alliance, which has threatened Japan, is composed of elements which are already making manifest their discord-ance. At Tien-Tsin, where there are vessels of all three countries, a very bitter feeling is said to have sprung up among the Germans over the neglect of the French and Russian men-of-war and consulates in not displaying their flags, though specially asked to do so, in honor of Bismarck's birthday. Last July, when the French were celebrating their independence day, the German cruiser Itils, then in port, dressed ship, and the Germans declare this nonor was tendered before there was any alliance. They are very sore over the mat-ter, which has been reported to the home government, and it is thought that Ger-many cannot avoid asking "Russia and France to give an explanation.

France Able To Keep Peace.

Paris, May 31.—In the senate today Marquis de L'Angle-Beaumonoir attacked the government for sending wairships to take part in the opening of the Baltic sea canal. M. Hanotaux, the foreign minister, denied that the presence of a French fleet at Kiel was equivalent to abandoning Alsace-Lorraine to the Germans. France, he said, was able to keep peace with Germany without altering the sense or the moral authority of the nation, which was faithful to its traditions and confident of its destiny.

THE PORTE MUST ASSENT To Armenian Reforms or the Reply entire assent, it will be returned. French Estimates Reduced.

Paris, May 31.-M. Ribot, prime minister and minister of finance, today informed the budget committee of the chamber of deputies that his colleagues had reduced their respective estimates, the reduction amounting to a total of 12,000,000 francs Hence the proposed tax on domestic servants has been abandoned.

It Will Be an Unpleasant Duty. Paris, May 31 .- The Gaulois says that on Paris, May 31.—The Gaulois says that on June 23d, during the celebration of the opening of the Baltic sea canal at Kiel, the emperor of Germany will go on board the French warship Hoche, when it will be obligatory upon the commander of the Hoche to hoist the German imperial standard, which bears the inscription, "1870."

Cholera in Brest.

London, May 31.—A Paris dispatch to The Daily News says it is reported that choiera has appeared in Brest. If the report proves to be well founded the French warships may not go to Kiel to take part in the ceremonles attendant upon the opening of the Baltic sea canal.

SALE OF THE ATLANTA AND FLORIDA. It Is Reported That Another Postponement Will Be Asked. The Atlanta and Florida railroad is advertised for sale on Monday, June 3d. It was reported a few weeks ago that two or three interests were after the property. One report was that the Seaboard wanted it. H. B. Plant was also said to have his eye on the line.

But, so far as known, the Brunswick Terminal, Company is the only party in the field who really means business. The idea is to build a connecting link or two and get a new route from Atlanta to the seacoast. Major Degnon, the general manager of the Brunswick company, was in Atlanta some time ago in conference with parties who are interested in the Atlanta and Florida. His plan was to buy the road, build from Fort Valley to Abbeville on the Sam road, thence on to Douglass, in Coffee county. There is a lumber road from Waycross to Douglass. It is all ironed and in operation except fifteen miles in Coffee county. The road belongs to Stillwell, Millen & Co., of Savannah, of which com-pany Mr. Bewick, of Atlanta, is a member. From Waycross the line could get to Brunswick over the Brunswick and West-ern, owned by Mr. Plant, or it could build from Waycross to Waynesville and there tap a line which it owns from there into Brunswick. At the port the Terminal company owns about all the desirable deep water frontage which is not held by the Plant system and the Southern. Major Degnon has associated with him.

ome very strong financial men in New York, and they are working with an En-glish syndicate. Word came to Atlanta yesterday that the arrangements between yesterday that the arrangements between the New York parties and the English syn-dicate were not completed and that the money was not in shape to be paid out for the property if it is sold on Monday. The sale is being prossed by the Central Trust Company of New York, which holds mort-gages against the Atlanta and Florida for $225,000 Mr. Dan Rountree's recent visit to $225,000. Mr. Dan Rountree's recent visit to New York was to confer with Major Degnon, whom he represents. It was reported last night that Colonel Tom Glenn and Mr. untree will unite in a motion this morn ing before Judge Newman to grant another postponement of the saie. The Atlantians who have a large sum invested in the Atlanta and Florida, naturally want the sale postponed so long as there is a chance to get a better price by waiting. Of late there has not been much talk of the road aside from Major Degnon's

Southern Railway Earnings.

D. G. Wylle, Sr., Dies Last Night at His F amily Home on Spring Street.

Mr. D. G. Wylie, Sr., the venerable father of Captain David G. Wylie, commissioner of public works of Atlanta, and Captain James R. Wylie, vice president of the Merchants' bank, died last night at the home of Captain David G. Wylie, 570 Spring street. Mr. Wylie

Mr. Wylie had passed his ninety-first birthday and until a month ago was quite hale and hearty, his mind being as clear ani quick and grasping as it was in his young days. A month ago a walk of sev-eral blocks was an every-day exercise with him, while he was prone to talk of the latest events with those who gathered about him every evening. A month or so ago, however, he was taken ill and since then his decline has been sure but gradual. His strength left him, but his mind re-mained bright and he was cheerful and hopeful up to within the past three or four days, when his memory began to fail. Those about him realized that 'the end was approaching and every attention was given him. The best medical aid was sup-given him. The best medical aid was supplied, but last night, despite the care and nursing, the venerable gentleman breathed his last about 1 o'clock.

Mr. Wylie was a native of South Carelina, but had been living in Atlanta with his sons for the past twenty years. He leaves besides the two sons named two darghters, who are living in Texas. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made, but will be announced tomorrow.

After breakfast at the Hotel Imperial, an address of welcome was delivered by Ed-ward T. Sanford, to which brief responses were made by Messrs. Dunnell, Annin, McFarland and Gardiner.

A short drive was taken to some leading manufacturing establishments, when a spe-cial train was placed at their disposal and the immense shops of the Southern railway were visited, winding up with a to one of the large marble mills, which are a feature of Knoxville.

Luncheon was then served at the elegant home of Colonel E. T. Sanford, president of the Knoxville and Ohio railroad. After spending more than an hour here, the tourists were driven back to the depot and at 1:30 o'clock left for Asheville, N. C. ac-companied by Colorel F. K. Huger, divis-ion superintendent of the Southern rail-The day was intensely hot: but the tourists expressed themselves pleased with their visit to Knoxville, and they indulged in hearty cheers for the city just before their special train moved away.

RAIN WAS NEEDED. And It Proved a Blessing to the Farmers Out West. St. Louis, May 31.—Telegraphic advices from over fifty points in southern Iowa, eastern Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory and northern Texas, state that a heavy rain has fallen in those sections dur-ing the past twenty-four hours. In some places it was the first rainfall in over six weeks, and has been of incalculable benefit to crops of all kinds. In southern filmos and Indiana the drought remains unbroken and the scorching hot wind has done great damage to wheat, oats and corn. Unless rain falls soon crops in portions of Indiana and Illinois will be total failures.

ANXIOUS TO RETURN TO WORK.

with the Operators. Columbus, O., May 31.-The Ohio miners' convention, which met today, is plainly against any strike in any district. The one desire seems to be to get back to work upon as favorable terms as possible, so upon as favorable terms as possible, so as to make the settlement a local instead of a general issue. The meeting this morning was devoted to a discussion of the situation and to codsidering the miners' side, as it will be presented in the meeting between the committee of miners and the operators.

Conductor Geeslin Refused the Run Which Was Tendered Him.

IT MAY BE THAT OR NOTHING

The Judge, According to Report, Will Recommend That Geeslin Take the Bun Which Is Offered.

Macon, Ga., May 31.-(Special.)-Captain Flem Geeslin has not resumed his old run as a conductor on the Southwestern division of the Central railroad between-Macon and Columbus, in compliance with the order of Judge Speer, which directed the receiver to restore him to his former And thereby hangs a tale.

When Judge Speer's order was communicated to the receiver, Captain Geeslin was notified to report for duty on May 29th, at the passenger depot in this city. Captain Geeslin reported promptly, but when he found that the railroad authorities did not intend for him to run solely between Macon and Columbus, but to alternate on the other roads of the Southwestern division running out of Macon, Captain Geeslin declined to go to work, holding that Judge Speer's order restored him to his old run between Macon and Colum-receivers communicated these facts to Judge Speer, and related that soon after General Superintendent Kline's investigation of the operations of the conductors in 1893 he changed the system which had prevailed by alternating the conductors on the different divisions, that is to say, that there being three runs on the Southwestern railroad out of Macon, one between Macon and Columbus, one between Macon and Albany, and one between Macon Montgomery, he thought that by alternat-ing the conductors on these runs he could better keep up with the business, and could get more efficient and better service for the company. The receivers further stated to Judge Speer that they supposed that his order to reinstate Captain Geeslin was intended to be construed as placing him backing the construed as placing him back in the service of the company, They further say to Judge Speer that they don't know if it was brought to his attention that the conductors were alternating upon the different runs on the Southwestern,

They supposed that the spirit of the order was that Captain Geeslin be put back in the service of the Southwestern to alternate with the different conductors on the other runs and that he should be treated the same as other conductors of the company. The receivers say that to put him back on the Southwestern between Macon and Columbus he would be the only conductor on that run.

When Judge Speer passed his order reinstating Captain Geeslin he was not aware that the system had been changed since the discharge of Captain Geeslin, and as he does not wish to interfere with the rule of the company relative to the al-ternating of the conductors, he will ad-dress a letter to the attorneys of Captain Geeslin, telling them that he desires the receivers' rule complied with and Captain Geeslin to alternate with the other conductors on the different runs.

It is supposed that Captain Geeslin will be willing to make the alternating runs when the situation is presented to him as Various Court Matters.

The superior court has been engaged today in the trial of a negro named Jim Centers charged with the murder of another negro, John Hunt. The two men were in love with the same woman. They quarreled, and Centers struck Hunt on the head with a fence paling, from the effects of which he died. The prosecution was repre-sented by Solicitor General Felton and At-torney Awtry. Messrs. Preston and Cooper norrow Ida Merritt, colored, will be tried on a writ of lunacy. Last week she was convicted of the murder of her husband and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Her attorneys think she ought to be sent to the lunatic asylum instead of the penitentiary.

Jim Bryant was convicted in the superior court of burglary and sentenced to the pen itentiary for ten years. Henry Wellon was acquitted of the charge of arson. In y court Henry Stevens was found not of simple larceny. Charley Odum and was sentenced to pay a fine of $80 or serve eight months on the chaingang.

Class Tree Exercises.

The class tree exercises of the graduating class of Mercer university were held this evening at 8 o'clock at the chapel of the college. There was a large and appreciative audience in attendance.

The positions of honor in the class are. Mr. H. J. Lawrence, of Jasper county, historian; Mr. G. W. Smith, Jr., of Houston county, prophet; Mr. Denver Brown, of Hart county, orator; Mr. N. W. Hurst, of Burke county, poet. In addition to this there was a vocal solo rendered by Miss Pauline Gambrell. Music was rendered especially for the occasion by Mr. Dan Holt's band.

especially for the occasion by Mr. Dan Hoit's band.

This unusual time for holding the class tree exercises perhaps needs a word of explanation. Almost ever since the founding of the university it has been the custom to have a joint debate between the two literary societies on Friday evening immediately preceding the commencement proper, and such was intended this year, but on account of an honest misunderstanding between the debaters, the debate has been declared off, much to the regret of the solutions. The class tree exercises have heretwore been held on Saturday afternoon.

acres of land by the latter company at Round mountain.

The Gordon Chemical Company will put up a $100,000 plant for the manufacture of alcohol from wood at that point. The process requires a plant similar to a charcoal establishment. There will be thirty ovens erected and after the alcohol is precipitated from the vapor the charcoal remaining will be utilized in the furnace of the iron company, thus making the plant of double utility.

The Round Mountain Iron Company is running full blast and has just elected W. C. Sibley, of Augusta, as president, and Samuel Funkhouser, of Rome, and J. C. Sibley, of Birmingham, as directors.

The alcohol plant is a brand new thing for this section of the couptry, but the projectors have unlimited faith in its success.

Shorter Commencement.

Shorter Commencement.

The commencement exercises of Shorter college were continued tonight at Nevins's opera house with the presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by the young ladies of Shorter, under the direction of Miss James C. Selman.

The play was beautifully presented and the acting of that romantic conception of Snakespeare would have done credit to professional actors.

The young ladies had made a special study of the play, with frequent rehearsals, and together with their beautiful costumes the whole affair was a great success.

The proceeds of the play go to the woman's department of the exposition.

Tuesday evening next a grand classical concert will be given, the participants being the most talented young ladies of Shorter. The proceeds will go to the St. Peter's church building fund.

Active preparations are being made for properly entertaining the regiment, and committees have been appointed and assigned to their various duties.

All preparations are being made through the home company, the Marietta Rifles.

The drilling and contests for prizes will, be at the old fair ground, about one mile south of the public square. Dress parade will be on the square upon the return of the companies from the fair grounds. Execursion rates will be given on the railroads, and from present indications immense crowds will come from railroad points and the country surrounding.

Among the prizes offered will be one by Colonel Candler, of forty overcoats, equivalent to $500, to the best drilled company in the regiment.

NEW COTTON MILL FOR ATHENS.

It Is To Be Capitalized at $150,000. $30,000 Subscribed. Athens, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Within the next six months, Athens is to have a 10,000 spindle mill. This was given out tonight by Mr. James F. McGowan, president of the Commission of the comm dent of the Commercial Club of Athens. He has been working up the matter until it is now an assured fact. The company is to have a capital stock of $150,000, of which $30,000 has already been subscribed and the remainder will be subscribed in short while. Mr. McGowan closed a contract today with the Athens Street Railway Company for 300 horse power from the electric plant at Mitchell's bridge, which will be ready for use inside the next sixty or nane, days. This power is to be furnished at $22.50 per annum per horse power. College Boys Fight.

A small sized but interesting sensation took place on the campus of the university yesterday afterneen and this morning. It all arose over recent charges against Mr. T. F. Smith, of Carrollton, which led to his suspension by the chancellor, and it is not over yet.

To go back to the beginning, several days ago, Mr. Smith was suspended by Chancellor Boggs on account of charges that he had cursed Professor B. F. Riley while in the latter's reception room and in the latter's absence.

When the alleged cursing was done, only three other students were in the room naturally Smith thought one of them had been informing.

At a subsequent meeting of the faculty the case was recrened and Mr. Smith, af ter giving in his evidence, was taken back into college. This brought about a ru-mored breach between the professor of English and the chancellor and the resul was another faculty meeting yesterday af-ternoon, at which the charges against Smith were again ventilated. Smith was present and gives out the following statement of what occurred:
"One of the students who was present in the English examitation room was M. P. Robinson, of Logansville, and he was also at the faculty meeting yesterday. He was asked by Dr. Boggs to write on a picce of paper what I said about Dr. Riley. He did so and Chancellor Boggs put the paper in his pocket. I demanded to see it and after some persuasion was allowed to do so. I pronounced it a lie and started toward Robinson, but was prevented from reaching him. Dr. Boggs informed me that I was suspended for one year and or-dered me to leave the city."

This morning Smith met Robinson at the Moore building on the campus and the two engaged in a red-hot fight, in which Robinson came out second best. Smith says he walked up to Robinson and slap-ped his face, telling him he would teach him how to tell lies on him. Robinson denies this and says Smith slipped up or him. Smith gave himself up to the police authorities and pleaded guilty to 'disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 and costs. Later on in the day a warrant was sworn out by Robinson, under the advice of Chan-cellor Boggs, charging Smith with assault and battery. Smith was arrested, but gave The affair may terminate in some very Charles Allen Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Life. Dawson, Ga., May 31.-(Special.)-The trial of Charles Allen for the killing of Paul Hill Slade continued Thursday and today. The evidence was all in before 12 o'clock Thursday, when Solicitor Sheffield made the first argument for the state.

After dinner the first argument for the defense wase made by Colonel J. A. Laing. Colonel J. G. Parks spoke for the state. Colonel M. C. Edwards followed for the defendant. Judge H. D. Twiggs closed for the defense. Ex-Judge Guerry closed the case for the state. Judge Bower charged the jury. As the jurors withdrew to their room the prisoner gave way to his emo-tions and wept. Many ladies were in court to hear the argument of counsel. Slade widow was present during the whole trial After six hours' deliberation, the jury agreed to a verdict and filed into court. Judge Bower left on the noon train and Judge Griggs received the verdict. It was "We the jury find the defendant guilty of murder and recommend that he be sentenced to the penitentiary for life.'
Alen was asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced on him. He answered that he had not re ceived a fair trial. Judge Griggs told him that he had been tried before an able and upright judge and one who knew the law Allen said he meant no reflection on the judge. He was then sentenced for life. His attorneys gave notice of an appeal. This will probably be on the ground that Judge Bower had erred in continuing the case after one juror of the panel announced that he was sick. This was before any evidence was introduced and because judge then ordered another juror seected

MASKED MEN GOT THEM

And It Is Thought Three Negroes

Have Been Lynched. Jacksonville, Fla., May 30 .- In Polk coun ty last Tuesday a negro entered the home of Mr. Pipkin and assaulted his daughter, Mrs. Timberlake, while she was in bed with her little girl. The negro choked Mrs. Timberlake and injured her body. The lady managed to scream and her father, who slept in an adjoining room, came to her aid. The negro hearing Mr. Pipkin coming, escaped through the win dow. The negro was chased Wednesday and arrested in a cabin about night with three companions. Gualds started with the four negroes to Bartow, but were met by masked men, who took the negroes into the woods. Three of the negroes have not been seen since. The fourth was beaten and ordered to leave. It is supposed the three negroeswere lynched.

MISTAKE OF OFFICERS

While Closing in on a Culprit They Shoot Each Other.

Monroe, La., May 30 .- A fatal mistake was made by Deputy Sherins Ed Edwards and Willis Baxter near this place last night. The officers were sent out to apprehend Hugh Abrams, who had been shooting into passenger trains on the out-skirts of the city, and they separated in order to capture Abrams. They met in the dark and mistook each other for the culprit and opened fire. Edwards dropped dead and Baxter received a fatal wound.

Nashville, Tenn., May 31.—(Special.)—The appropriation bill was recommended for passage today in the senate, the only change being a reduction of $100,000 in criminal costs. The bill providing for but one registration was taken up and was considered at length but was not disposed of. In the house Mr. Castleberry, of Shelby, was elected temporary speaker today, Speaker Tipton being absent. All the republicans voted for Mr. Hooper, of Cocke. A resolu tion to look into the engrossment of the assessment bill passed at the regular session was adopted, some important amendments having been left off. The balance of the day was devoted to the penitentiary bill, but that section providing for the temporary lease of convicts to build new endent lines of railroads was not disposed of.

HE MONEY QUESTION

Disastrous Effects Resulting from Compulsory Idleness.

JOHN P. JONES ON IDLENESS

Is an Honest Dollar?-The Gold Dolof Twenty Years Ago-The Kind of a Dollar the Country Needs.

As I have stated, the great impediment to the progress of the working classes is the idle man. While large numbers are hungry and unemployed, it is impossible for organization to accomplish the object it has in view. Hence the task which naturally precedes all attempts of workingmen to obtain an advance that shall be real, rather than apparent, in wages is the adoption of such national policies as may result in putting and keeping every Computations as to rates of wages are and will cortinue to be wholly incomplete and misleading until side by side with them are placed the figures which show the numof men who are living in enforced idle-s. Our statisticians take note of wages as they are for those who are at work. They make not the slightest attempt to ascertain the number of the unemployed. Until this is done all calculations of wages

Enormous numbers of men are at all times to be found ready to take the places of those who go out on strike, and this, too, in a country whose development, instead of being complete, has only just be-

When compelled to admit that large numbers' are chronically idle, the advocates of the gold standard take refuge in the cynical assertion that in all communities number of men will be found who do not wish to work, and that their idleness is the result of their own folly or improvi-dence. The statement that men prefer idlness to honest labor I consider a shander on the working classes. These are the statements of the political philosophers of gold standard countries, resorted to in Crder to account for the enginess proportion of men whom the gold standard relegates to idences and keeps there—a standard relegates to idences and keeps there—a standard relegates to idences and keeps there—a standard relegates to identify the control of the c ard which is the symbol for the concentration of wealth and the distribution of poverty. By its diversion of money from the paths of industry into the great centers of speculation it takes from the labor marand uses in the bond and stock mar-the material which is the life blood of idea that men prefer to beg rather than to work is altogether an idea of Euro-pean origin and is contradicted by all the experiences of this new country. The ver classes that in Europe have been charged with incorrigible laziness prove on coming to this country that in their European homes they were merely the slaves of conditions, and that they can be as indusis as any other class of the commu-

Whatever amelioration occurs in the condition of the workingman occurs because he is year by year increasing his demands. He will continue to increase those demands until it becomes clear to him that he re-ceives his fair share of the product of his So long as the employer's profits will warrant the increase the workman will exact it until the equilibrium between profits and wages is reached. This is in-But where, with falling prices, the employer is already on the verge of loss, and as money shrinks in volume his profits tend to disappear, no effort on the part of the workers, whether by strikes or otherwise can permanently secure to them a higher scale of wages. When the strikes are warranted by conditions of business, they will be successful. Where not so warranted they must inevitably fail.

Prices Can't Rise Without Higher

Wages. When it is said that the prices of the products of labor could increase all along the line without the laborer exacting his share of the employers increased profits, I should like to inquire where the laborer is supposed to be while all this is going on? Is it assumed that he is asleep? The history of labor within recent years does not warrant this assumption.

Is it for a moment to be supposed that American workmen stand in such awe of their employers that they cannot contrive to obtain from him any fair proportion of this increase in the price of the commodi-ties which are the products of their own

In other words, are we to understand of living, thinking, human beings, who make those inanimate things—cannot rise? uninterrupted employment of all its people. A country cannot come to harm when its people are all at work; when every forge, anvil and loom is performing the function: when every hand and every country to keep prices of commodities firm the productive energies of the people are fully occupied and business profits are rea-sonable, so that employment is continued and continuous for all. With a proper volume of money comes a proper distribution of the results of industry.

Under proper monetary conditions in this country there would be opportunities copstantly offering for every American worke t his surplus earnings in the in-or manufacturing establishment with which he may be connected. This would give him an interest in the work in which he is employed—an interest far be-yond the ordinary interest of a wage earn-er. It would be a spur to industry and thrift and would increase the true perma-ent wealth of the country.

The aim of the political economist seems to be to deal with products after they have been made-after they get into the hands of those who did not produce them.

and it is free from adulteration.

What Is an Honest Dollar? The gold standard men tell us that all-they ask for is good money—honest money. If that is so, then there must be some monstrous juggling with words, for the very pith and marrow of our contention in de-manding the restoration of the privilege of full coinage to silver is for good money, honest money, a money more honest than gold, a money that shall be honest not merely today, but in perpetuity. The acute among the gold men very well know that gold money under existing conditions is not an honest money but an unjust and esnot an honest money, but an unjust and es-Sentially dishonest money.

What, then, is an honest dollar? Is it not a dollar which demands at all times the same degree of sacrifice to obtain it?

Is a dollar "honest" only when it is increasing in purchasing power, when it is enlarging its grasp over the products of labor? Is it an "honest" dollar only when it is exacting more from the debtor than he contracted to pay and giving more to the creditor than he agreed to receive? Is a dollar dishonest when, on the date of repayment, it commands precisely the same direc of sacrifice that it commanded when it was borrowed? In order that a dollar may be entitled to he designation "honest," is it necessary that at the date of repayment it should a greater control over human effort than it had when it was borrowed?

One would naturally suppose that an honest dollar would be a dollar that would correctly register the sacrifices of men, so that at the close of the term of a loan the creditor, in addition to lawful interest. would receive as principal not merely the same number of dollars, but dollars com-manding on the average the same degree of human effort as those he had lent.

Are we to understand that after the making of a contract requiring the payment of money a dollar becomes more and more "honest" in the proportion in which its purchasing power increases, to the advantage of the creditor and the disadvantage of

Was the Gold Dollar an Honest Dol-

The gold dollar having today a pur-chasing power 50 per cent greater than the same gold dollar had in 1873, was the gold dollar of twenty years ago a dishonest dollar, and is it today 50 per cent more honest than it was then, it being at both periods of precisely the same weight and And if it continues to increase in purchasing power, will it continue to increase in honesty?

We have heard no gold standard cham-pion attribute dishonesty to any gold coin of any country at any date. Gold, they say, is always gold, which in one sense we grant, and, therefore, one would suppose that a contract to pay gold would be the same contract at one time as at another. Yet at two different periods of time it means two totally different things. Demand That One Dollar Must Be Kept as Good as Another. The gold advocates Say that one dollar must be as good as another. But they do not define what goodness means. Is not a just dollar a good dollar? Is not a dollar of unchanging value a good dollar? Is not lar?

If the dollar they take for their model is a swindling dollar, why should they ask that an "honest" dollar should be as "good" or as bad as that?

If a dollar should get to be more valuable than the dollar of the contract—if goodness means dearness-then we want a dollar that shall not be so good. We want a dollar that shall demand no more sacrifice to get it than the dollar of the contract-than the dollar that was agreed

Premium on Gold. When gold alone, or a money based on gold, is the circulating medium of a country, a contract calling for the payment of $1,000 on the spot would on its face seem to be the same as a contract calling for the payment of $1,000 at a future time, because the sum being in each case the same and payable in the same form of money, there would seem to be no premium involved. If, however, men are obliged to give more of their products for it in the one case than in the other, are they not to all intents and purposes paying a premium on gold? Is it any less a premium because the true character of the transaction is not detected? Values being always stated in terms of money, never in terms of commodities, it is not easy for the uninitiated to detect variations in

Anything that is measured by itself alone can never preent an appearance of change. No matter, therefore, how great a departure may be made by gold from its value at any former period, such departure is never denominated a change in the value of gold, but always a change in the prices of commodities. It is thus that prices of commodities. even the everyday phases of inqustry and commerce are calculated to conceal the evil which the gold standard inflicts upon society and affords to interested casuists and sophists, as well as to superficial thinkers upon money, to so-called statis-ucians and would-be philosophers and economists an opportunity much improved by them of disputing as to the true na-ture of the change that has taken place. The greatest artist that ever lived might sit down and think until he was gray and he would never conjure up such glories of hue and vista as are here presented. The imagination is staggered when, looking from the commanding Leight upon which Battery Park stands, you look across the magnificent stretch of mountains that file away to the cast. Here a winding silver stream, there a dot that marks in the distance a dwelling place, there a little white line that marks the direction of a country road and down, down there beneath it all lies a white roll of clouds, massed up as if lies a white roll of clouds, massed up as it they had been tern loose from the elements and were stationary in the valley. Far across, miles away, a great cream-colored spot stands in vivid contrast to the surrounding green. It seems strangely out of place, that mark of civilization, there amid the riot of nature, God made the picture so complete that it seems a pity that man should lay his irreverent and despoiling hand upon it. But money, the vice of ing hand upon it. But money, the vice of civilization, finds its way everywhere, and civilization, finds its way everywhere, and George Vanderbilt came down here with his millions and put up a palace. They tell me that he has spent nearly a million on his park. It was a useless waste of money. Bill Nye's park, just beyond to Bill Nye's park, just beyond, is better. It is close to Buck Shoals and nearly any day, when he is at home, Bill can be found sitting solemnly by the banks of the stream, just below the shoals, holding a fishing rod. Here he sits for days in the most grave and serious manner in the world, thinking up the funny things which make people and serious manner in the world, that up the funny things which make people laugh. There is laughter in the atmosphere and Bill Nye did himself a good turn when he selected Asheville for his thinking place.

LIKE A RIDE ON AN EARTHQUAKE. how great may be his ambilion or how strong his sense of duty. The Sensation of an Elephant Running Away.

Nothing but a ride on an earthquake, writes Henry Norman, could be compared to the sensation of being run away with by an elephant. Nothing stops his wild rush, and he does not swerve for an stacle, but goes straight at it. A few shakes fling off everything on his back and the rider has but a second or two in which to make up his mind which overhanging branch he will cling to, or if he will risk throwing himself off. A broken neck would be the certain consequence of remaining. As for stopping him, somebody has well said that you might just as well try to stop a runaway locomotive by pulling with your walking stick on the funnel as to seek to check an elephant at such a

When it is afraid or angry it squeaks like an unoiled hinge. But when it suddenly jumps aside like a flea you imagine for a moment that the ultimate terrestrial cataclysm has gone off. The Malays never wholly trust their elephants, and were nervous at my familiarities with mine, a sweet-tempered old female, on which I rode hundreds of miles. During the midday halt I used to call her

During the midday halt I used to call her up and she would come and stand with one foot on each side of my chest as I lay on my back and fed her with bananas. I was never angry with her but once— when she tried to kill the cook.
On one occasion a little elephant of our party, running behind its mother, teased her beyond endurance, and she turned and gave him a shove that landed him fee uppermost at the bottom of a deep brook. For two hours he screamed like a steam whistle, while we were all engaged in getting him out. Every night when we reached camp and the loads were taken off, each driver would hobble his beast by tying its front legs to gether with rattan, so that it could only hop with both together. Then a wooden bell was hung around its neck and it was turned loose to wander in the jungle. All night long the faint dong, dong of these bells made a mournful around the camp. At daybreak each drive

Working Habits of Public Men

From The New York World. It is said of a public man whose un timely death the country is lamenting that "he worked hard, ate in a hurry, drank strong black coffee, smoked cigars and took no exercise." In other words, he threw away a life of the greatest value and cut short a career of usefulness that might have been extended over many years to come. The case is not at all exceptional. He livedand died-very much as do other Ameri-cans on whom have fallen the heavy responsibilities and heavy work of the country.

To do real work involves the necessity of thought. No man can think without straining his nerves. If he is a hard think-er, as he must be to be greatly useful, his nerves must be subjected to severe strain, and, of course, there will be a tendency of the nervous system to give way at the weakest point. General lassitude, a result of overstrain, will nearly always be followed by dyspepsia. The closely related nerves which govern heart, stomach and lungs, will be disordered. The consequent suffering will be severe enough to warn the sufferer of the ger to which he is subjecting himself.

stead of itaking warning, however, he nearly always takes to stimulants—to "strong black coffee and black cigars."

It is hard for a strong man to kill himself, and as he does not die at once he rejects the warnings of his friends and of his own common sense, until at his nerves can no longer react against the abuse to which he subjects them. He collapses. The enforced rest consequent on a long fit of illness may save his life if he have vitality left to go through it, but overwork, overeating, black coffee and black cigars will kill the strongest who ever lived if he only gives them

The public man who "lives on his nerve" is obliged to suffer a great deal more than the private citizen who lives by his muscle. But if, he lets black coffee and black cigars alone, if he does not overeat, if he relieves nervous strain by muscular exer-cise instead of by stimulants, he can hardly torture himself to death, no matter

The Silver Dollar in Mexico.

From The Washington Post, Ind.
A correspondent of The New York Sun, writing from the City of Mexico, undertakes to show that the country in which he is sojourning has been ruined by cheap silver. He insists that the laboring man is wronged and despoiled through the medium of a "depreciated currency," and complains that he does not get even the poor consolation involved in larger pay. He

The question naturally arises, especially after one has heard the promises of the silver men on the floors of congress: Why has wages not risen in Mexico? Why, even on a silver basis, are they so much lower than the lowest paid in the United States? It must be remembered, too, that the wages paid here are in a depreciated coin, worth only half as much as the same amount received for labor in the United

The answer to this is very simple. Wages are low because there is not work enough to go around. But it is not true in any proper sense that "the depreclated coin" of Mexico is worth only half as much as coin of the same nominal value in this country. It is true so far as the bankers can make it true, and so, in purchasing United States exchange, the Mexican dollar has a value of only 50 cents; but for all the purposes of the Mexican citizen his dollar is worth quite as much to him there as our dollar is worth to us here. Labor mands a low price because there is so lit-tle demand for it and because the supply is so much in excess of that demand, but the Mexican dollar, once in hand, has fully as great a purchasing power there as the United States dollar has in this country. The visitor to the City of Mexico secures at the Yturbide hotel, for example, an excellent bedroom, with sitting room at-tachment, for $2.50 to $3 per diem. He gets a very good landau with two horses for $1.50 an hour. He goes to the restaurants— to Omarini's of Recamier's, or to the Tivoli San Cosme—and has a delightful dinner for $2 or $3 a plate, with the best of imported wines at New York prices. At the Jockey Club, when the writer was last in the Mexican capital, one had an elaborate midday breakfast, well-served, and cooked midday breaktast, well-served, and cocked by a first-class Parisian chef, for $1. For $3 he could have a banquet of eight or ten courses—better in every way than is obtainable in Washington for half as much again. All this in "depreciated money."

Clothing and wearing apparel generally cost about the same there as here, which means, according to The Sun's correspondent, that they cost just half as much. Some articles come much higher than the same articles here, and vice versa; but these differences are due to physical causes—the same causes that make the pineapple and the alligator pear cost in Mexico less than one-quarter the price charged here.

The fact remains, however, that one Mexican dollar will buy as much ir co as one United States dollar will buy here. The Mexican dollar is depreciated only when the banks get hold of it and manipulate it in the interest of monometal-

There are many, and, as we see the matter, convincing arguments to be urged against the indiscriminate coinage of sil-ver by this country, but The Sun's correspondent, "An American Democrat," goes sadly wide of the mark in looking to Mexico for them. He appears to have taken a very hasty and a very superficial view of things, and to have overlooked the facts altogether. Perhaps, though, he is writing as a special pleader, not as a historian of a philosopher, and prefers to make his facts to suit the emergencies of his argu-

"Oh, they've come to see." was the reply. Now Englishmen, as a rule, are modest beings, and I fancy that most men would feel a certain amount of bashfulness if called upon to women and children, so M. whispered to me, "I'm going to bed dirty tonight, unless me, "I'm going to bed dirty tonight, unless those people clear out." I told him we must not think of such base conduct, and I reminded him of the story in the "Pink Wedding" of the gentleman who refused his bath in the presence of the mozmi attendant: how she went out and told her friends that the poor man was possessed of a caudal appendage; and how he had to flee the village to prevent maltreatment as an agent of the devil. My friend was persuaded, and we "stripped to the buff." As each garment came off the crowd closed in, and the women strove among thenselves for the pleasure of pouring water fown our backs.

BROOKS AND NOLAN

Charged with Cheating and Swindling Bound Over Yesterday.

THE TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE LANDRUM

Pat Moore Alleges That He Has Been Made the Victim of a Conspiracy and Seeks Redress in the Courts.

Charles H. Brooks, general manager of the Atlanta Promoting Company, was ar-raigned before Judge Landrum yesterday on a charged of cheating and swindling.

Brooks was arrested several days ago on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Pat Moore, of the revenue service, who claims that he has lost money to a considerable amount by

On the witness stand yesterday Mr. Moore told the story of the transaction and gave in detail the circumstances that culminated in the arrest of Brooks. He alleges that Brooks induced him to become a stockholder in a company organized for the purpose of handling patented toy swings and that the representations made by Brooks and W. T. Nolan were false and without foundation. He said that upon these representations he advanced $250 in money and gave his notes to the amount of $400. Instead of realizing from his investment Moore claims that he has been defrauded and now seeks to recover his money through legal process. He claims that Brooks misappropriated the money and used it for himself. He further testi and used it for himself, he turner testified that Brooks claimed to have a large deposit in the Lowry bank. The bookkeeper of the Lowry Banking Company testified that C. H. Brooks had never had an account in that bank.

Moore said that when he was approached by Brooks and asked to take stock in the company that was being formed he told him that he had sold 1,000 of the swings to the Thompson-Fitten Hardware Company at a profit of 75 cents each. Mr. Thompson stated before the court yesterday that he had never been under contract with Brooks and testified that such statements were un-

W. H. Terrell, representing Brooks and Nolan, thought that there was no fraud. Judge Landrum, after carefully considering the evidence introduced in the case, decided that he would bind Brooks and Nolan over and placed their bonds at $200 each.

Both men were placed in the custody of an officer to seek bondsmen, but up to a late hour no return to the court had beer made.

THE SIDEWALKS OF ATLANTA.

The boys haven't quit twitting Captain Herry Smith about it yet.

It was on his visit to the confederate veterans' reunion out in Texas, and the captain will always remember his greeting to the Lone Star State of the west. He was on the train that bore Miss Winnie Davis out to Texas, and everywhere the daugh ter of the confederacy was given a rous-ing reception by the inhabitants of the little towns along the way. The train rolled into Orange, Tex., which is a prospercus city just across the border line of Louisiana and Texas. There was a great crowd down to see the train pass, and Captain Smith, like many others, stepped from the platform of the car to see the town. He had no sooner alighted than he cound himself in the embrace of a huge six-foot Texas girl, who toyed with his imperials ard kissed and flattered him. Now, Cap-tain Smith is a modest man. He drew back abashed and exclaimed:

O'SHIELDS ARRESTED.

Another Chapter Unfolded in the Affairs of Allen, the Horse Trader.

Harry O'Shields, formerly a bailiff of Cook's district, was arrested early yester-day morning charged with receiving stolen property and disposing of the same. It is claimed that O'Shields is an accomplice of L. Allen, who has figured quite recently as an alleged horse thief. The story of Allen's exciting race of over 400 miles and the chase given him by the Unit-miles and the chase given him by the United States deputy marshal, Hughes, is yet fresh upon the minds of the public, and the arrest of O'Shiedds yesterday makes quite an interesting finale to the sensational chapter of Allen's escapades.

Allen was carried back to trial in Tennessee a week ago and at that time two stolen horses were recovered; and now Butler claims that two horses owned by himself were taken presumably by Allen and in turn received by the man O'Shields. Butler swore out the warrant Thursday and it was served upon Mr. O'Shields yesterday at his home. He was brought to the station house and endeavored to give bond, but a justice of the peace could not found and he was locked up.

When the picture of Allen was printed in The Constitution when he was arrest-ed it was recognized by many stock dealers in the city who had seen Allen before. Many had had dealings with the man, and on frequent visits to the city they had traded horses with him and in some instances bought the horses outright.

The officers who worked up the case were of the opinion that Allen was in co-partnership with some one in this city who took possession of the stolen property and quietly disposed of it after Allen left; and begins to appear that their suspicions were well founded.

It has been no unusual thing for the stockmen to suffer the loss of horses, and it was believed by them that a system-atic warfare had been made upon them by a gang of professionals.

This last arrest promises to throw more light upon the subject, and if the charges are proven, it will, in a great degree, giv a deathblow to the raids that have been nade upon the several stables in this city. When O'Shields was carried to the station house he was very indignant over his arrest and promised to make it warm for some one. He refused to talk upon the subject, and said that if there was any truth in the charges preferred against him it was too late to get the horses. This seems to indicate, so the officers believe, that whether guilty of the charg not, he must know something about the operations of Allen.

When Allen was arrested here O'Shields was one of the first to call to see the man. He claimed to have had an engagement with Allen when that man was arrested, and rebuked Allen for not meeting him at the appointed hour.

O'Shields paid several visits to the station house, the officers say, during the time Allen was incarcerated, and it is claimed held frequent interviews with him. O'Shields lives on Marietta street and has been a bailiff in Cook's district for sev eral years. He is quite old, and his head is perfectly gray, and he appears to be older than the age he gave the officers.

O'Shields Makes a Statement. O'Shields has decided to make a statement and tell the entire relations he held with Allen. He tells this story in a straightforward manner and cays that he has nothing to conceal. He says that the first time he saw Allen he offered him two horses for sale. O'Shields did not have the cash and Allen sold him the pair on credit. Before Affen left town, however, O'Shields says he paid him in full and later on sold the horses at a profit. Allen in a few the horses at a profit. Allen in a few weeks made another trip to this city, and from him O'Shields bought another pair.

A third trip was made by Allen shortly afterwards, which resulted in his selling two more horses to O'Shields. These were disposed of also. When Aller came to this city about ten days ago, he brought with him four horses, two of which he sold O'Shields, and two he left at Mr. Benten's farm. The two left at Colonel Benten's were recoveged by the officers and were taken back to Tennessee. The last two sold O'Shields at the same time were sold by him. These two horses are now the cause of O'Shields's trouble. Mr. Butler lives in Alabama and claims that Allen stole these two from him. He also says that O'Shields received them from Allen and disposed of them. Now he wants the stolen horses.

Mr. O'Shields disclaims any knowledge on his part that Allen was not the owner of the horses sold by him, and he says that he did a perfectly bona nde business and that there are no grounds whatever upon which the warrant can be sustained. says he does not expect the case to give him any trouble and will be cleared of the charge. Late vesterday afternoon O'Shields was carried before Judge Foute and was released upon his own recognizance, pending an investigation that is being made by detectives who are assisting Mr. Butler in working up the case.

Mr. O'Shields says he had no idea that

Allen was crooked and was greatly sur-prised to learn of the arrest. He says he can't understand why any suspicion should point toward himself, as he had been doing a perfectly legitimate business and knew nothing wrong about Allen's dealings.

A WOMAN BURIED ALIVE. Left Three Hours in the Grave Till

All Formalities Were Fulfilled. From The European Edition of The Herald A horrible affair has taken place at Doussard, on the banks of the lake of Annecy, in the Haute-Savole, France.

A woman who had died the day before was being buried, when a gravedigger who was engaged in filling up the grave, distinctly heard a knocking coming from under ground. He called one of his com-rades who was working near, and he heard the same thing.

It was then about 9 o'clock in the morning. The sound lasted about half an hour and then ceased.

It was only then that the men came to the conclusion that something should be done, and they went and informed the au-

The cure was the first to arrive on the scene, but as no one had any authoriza-tion to exhume the body the coffin was not dug up. All that was done was to bore holes in the l'd with a drift in such a way as to admit air.

It was only toward midday that it was decided to open the coffin, all the admin-istrative formalities thaving been fulfilled. The question is: Was the woman still living at that hour?

living at that hour?
Witnesses affirm she was. They state they saw color come into her cheeks and her eyes open and shut.
One thing is certain—that when it was finally decided to consult a doctor (it was then half-past 6 o'clock in the evening) the practitioner summoned, M. Estay, declared that death had taken place not more than that death had taken place not more than five or six hours before.

"HELA!"

A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY. It is Heard. A Promeent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY RE 's cry for How startling is a woma "What can I do? Where shall I go?" She knows not This today from every cry goes out city, town, and hamlet in this country. It comes from women who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint. Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, for many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The simply wrong. peculiar ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's genius. and liberality have given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain free advice. She can state her case fully to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. Be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and preserve your health. "Only a woman can understand a woman's ills." A prominent actress, in a letter to

Mrs. Pinkham, says:—

"... You cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered from womb trouble and travelling constantly. I gauntlet of doctors' theories, till my health and money

were rap I'm all right now, and am gaining flesh daily. I follow your advice faithfully in everything. Thank you ten thousand times for what your knowledge and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me."

Always Our Policy.

The Albany Herald shows that it thoroughly understands The Constitution's policy when it commends our efforts to encourage the hog and hominy campaign in Georgia.

We are in hearty sympathy with The Herald's work in advocating an agricultural system of diversified crops that will make our farms self-sustaining. We have been hammering away on this line ever since The Constitution started, and we propose to continue the good

When Georgians produce here at home what they consume they shall be independent of the outside world, and their money will remain to be invested in the development of the resources of the state. This was the leading ideain the inception of the Cotton States and International exposition. We earnestly desire to see the best possible exhibit made here of everything that will attract outside capital and enterprise. There should be exhibits here from comparatively unknown counties in distant southern states that will draw attention to those localities and build them 'up, creating new markets for the farmers, and establishing new centers of distribution which will cause cities like Atlanta to spring up in every southern

This is The Constitution's policy. Whatever helps the south and increases her prosperity will help its. We have never been governed by the narrow and selfish idea which builds up one local center at the expense of the country around it. If the exposition should help Atlanta alone the benefit would be only temporary. What we want is a general development. If the population and wealth of the southern states can be doubled such a result will be a hundred fold better, for Atlanta than would be the case if we concentrated our attention upon a local boom.

We are enlisted in the hog and hominy campaign. We want to see our people get to the point where they can live at home, and when we can put in a word that will bring our neighboring states to the front we are going to do it This is directly in the line of our work and it is the basic idea of our exposition.

They're All in Line.

The smaller towns of Georgia are all in line with progress. This is "Exposition year," and they are all tar lively interest in the great exhibition which is to do so much for Georgia and the south.

Every weekly newspaper in the state is advocating a county exhibit, and citizens in the towns and in the country districts are anxious for local representation. There is not a county in the state but could make a fine showing at the exposition. Georgia is rich in resources and it only requires active work, backed by a spirit of pride and enterprise, to bring these resources more prominently before the world. The exposition is Georgia's opportunity, and the people everywhere seem to appreciate it as

We are glad to see the counties falling in line. They should all answer to roll call when the gates of the international exposition swing wide to the world.

Mr. Whitney Bears Evidence.

In their unconcealed and enthusiastic efforts to do the bidding of the money power. Mr. Cleveland and the gentle men whose statesmanship is of the "cuckoo" variety, are rapidly finding themselves in the attitude of the snipe bunter who is left with the bag to hold.

The bold stand for the single gold standard taken by the administration and so forcibly presented by Secretary Carlisle in the campaign he has been making through Kentucky; the broad declarations made by Carlisle, Patterson and other administration mouthpieces that there can be no such thing as a bimetallic standard, and that in the face of their attempts to fool the people into the belief that they are the only true bimetallists;" the open acknowledgment that there cannot possibly be an international agreement in the inter est of bimetallism-all this has brought trouble to the administration camp.

Recent events have so completely forn away the mask behind which the goldbug campaign has heretofore been conducted, that now all efforts to becloud the real issue go for naught. It is gold against freedom and libertygold against the world. The administration's financial policy must be indorsed in toto. The money power has shied its castor in the ring and bids defiance to the people.

This boldness is due to the fact that

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, interests have to find their strongest champions. Ey en John Sherman has not had the courage to stand squarely to the financial policy which he has ind their strongest handed down to this democratic administration for its willing use, and his Ohio convention continues to deal in platitudes of the straddle variety.

The programme to which the goldbug element in the democratic party is just now achering most strenuously, is to follow up the cry that there can be no such thing as a double standard. These men, it must be remembered, are the same ones who have heretofore been talking double standard most industribusly, reiterating with each breath that they and they alone were the true imetallists.

In this connection the following from an interview with ex-Secretary Whitney, who has just returned from a trip abroad, will be read with interest:

I found that where twenty years ago hardly any one could be found in Great Britain who favored a bimetallic standard of currency, there is everywhere in the kingdom a growing feeling in favor of such a standard. In fact, I believe from what I saw and heard that the feeling in favor of bimetallism is stronger in Great Britain than it is in the United States. The stu-dents of political economy favor it. The boards of trade in the large manufacturing centers like Birmingham and Sheffield hav taken a firm stand in favor of a bimetallic standard. Even among the conservative statesmen may be found its champions, notably among whom is A. J. Balfour. I had a talk with Mr. Lidderdale, who was a governor of the Bank of England when it carried the Barings through their financial difficulfies, and he expressed himself unqualifiedly for a bimetallic standard Ir fact the only opposition to bimetallism in Great Britain proceeds from the same source that it does in this country—from the men who stand in the same relation to trade as do the men in Wall street. The other countries of Europe look to England to take the initiative in this matter, and they believe that within two years at the most England will be calling for an inter-national monetary conference, if not for an international agreement for the establishment of a bimetallic standard of money.

When Mr. Whitney says "the only opposition to bimetallism in Great Britain proceeds from the same source that it does in this country, from the men who stand in the same relation to trade as do the men in Wall street," he gives a graphic picture of the real situation. It is lamentably true, however, that in England just as in this country, the money power is the power behind the administration. There the money kings are so potent that there is no hope of being able to throw off their grasp; here the people have it in their power to take And they are going to do it. control. Mr. Whitney will find after a short while spent in this country that the sentiment for bimetallism is overwhelmingly greater than it is in England. He has, while abroad, depended upon the New York newspapers for his information concerning affairs on this side of the water, and the New York papers are lamentably ignorant concerning what is going on outside of the metrop-

Unconsciously, of course, Mr. Whitney deals a blow at the administration when he declares that students of political economy, business men in touch with affairs, and prominent conservative leaders are for the double standard. When he went abroad the programme of the administration was to hold up the international agreement myth; since then has come the determination to throw off the mask and to declare that such a thing as a double standard is an absolute impossibility, and Mr. Whitney has not been kept informed of the change.

If the men who talk international agreement are in earnest, if they are honest in their desire to see silver restored to its place as a money metal the world over, they will advocate independent action by this government as the means to that end. When the United States opens its mints to the free and unlimited coinage of silver as well as gold, the European powers will be compelled in self-defense to follow. There is no other way to secure bimetallism.

Walter Q. Gresham is the fourth sec retary of state to die in office.

In June, 1843, Hugh Swinton Legare. of South Carolina, who had just a month before been given the state portfolio by President Tyler, Went with the president and other members of his cabinet to Boston to listen to the speech of Daniel Webster on the completion of the Bunker Hill monument. The day before the ceremony Secretary Legare was stricken down by what proved to be a fatal illness, and within a few days he died.

Abel P. Upshur, of Virginia, was his successor. The tragic death of Secretary Upshur is familiar every student of history. It was less than a year after the death of Secretary Legare that President Tyler and his cabinet went with a large number of other public men to witness the trial of the monster guns on the new warship, the Potomac. The trip and the trial had been most successful. The guns had all stood the tests well, and when one of the longest was to be fired for the last time the visitors crowded around to witness the sighting and the firing. That gun burst, killing among others the secretary of state and Mr Gilmer, secretary of the navy.

Daniel Webster was the third secre tary of state to die in office. This was in 1852. The nomination of Scott by the Baltimore convention, wresting from him the prize which was his life's desire, undoubtedly hastened the end. He died a sadly disappointed man.

A Monument of Peace;

The speech of General Wade Hampton at Chicago breathes a spirit of broad Americanism that will touch a responsive chord in the heart of every brave man north and south.

The utterances there made by one of the greatest living southern generals cannot fail to have their proper effect. While General Hampton made no apologies for the past he said in plain and unmistakable English that his people regarded the war issues as things of the past, and the people of the south are heartily responsive to the sentiment. And while the whine of the Boutelle stripe of bloody shirt wavers may still. in isolated instances, be heard in the in the present administration the money land, the American people, without regard to state or section, are filled with the American spirit of fraternity.

The suggestion is made that the monument which marks the resting place of the confederate soldiers who lie buried beneath the soil of Illinois is a monument of peace. The spirit which inspired it is certainly one that will be respected and admired by all save the few who for political effect prefer to do what little they can to stir up the strife of the past. Chicago gave hearty welcome to the sons of the south who came there on a mission of love. The Times-Herald reflects that spirit when, in referring to the event, it says:

The sorrow of the grave, as Washington Irving so truly said, is the only sorrow from which we refuse to be divorced, America is a land of homes. We have never affected indifference when, for whatever reasons, the home circle has broken. No soldier boy, wore he the blue or wore he the gray, fell in battle or died in hospital or perished by the way but he had left a home behind him with its infinite affections. with most heartfelt welcome, Chicago, with most heartfelt welcome, greets today our brothers from the south who have come to fledicate their memorial of love to their brothers in arms whose bodies lie buried here.

It would not have been seemly had they neglected these graves. We honor pro-foundly the sentiment which prompts them. The bravest and most patriotic will share with them in this most deeply.

The monument is no memorial of a lost cause, but rather of a cause that has been found—a cause which, exactly alike in the north and in the south, is being found year by year more and more potential in the sweetness of its motive and the all-inclusive sweep of its beneficence.

And so, brothers of the north and of the south, in the shadow of common sorrows over brave men who did not live to see our day, but in the sunlight of a measureless common hope, which kindles aspiration in the breasts alike of Americans of every section, of every race and previous na tionality, our mutual greeting is instinct only with benediction

There is no longer any question between the sections, and none of the old war issues. These old matters were wiped out long ago: and while the sons of the south and the sons of the north will ever honor the bravery of the men who fell fighting for the cause each felt to be right, they will join hands-they have long since joined hands and shoulder to shoulder are engaged in doing their part toward working out the glorious destiny of the republic. We believe that the confederate monument at Chicago will be a monument of peace.

A Good Hater.

A Washington correspondent says that the late Secretary Gresham's great fault was resentment, and that when he once made up his mind he was a "good Itamay not be altogether Biblical, but the almost universal sentiment is that the phase of the dead secretary's character here criticised is, instead of being a fault, in his favor. Dr. Samuel Johnson was fond of a good hater, and the world agrees with him.

The thing holds in politics as it does in social life. The good hater is, as a rule, the man who is truest to his friends. He is a man of strong parts, a man in whose veins the life blood runs warm. He is not a snarler and a pessimist, he is as a rule readier and more willing to make friends than to make enemies, and as his enemies feel the force of his hates, so his friends feel the strength and the vigor of his friendships.

A Question and Its Answer. The Chicago Inter Ocean has the following:

A St. Louis paper says that "the argu ments of the street corner silver advocates are discredited because of their lack of credit at the corner grocery." How about the personal credit of John G. Carlisle, who is running the finances of the govern-

In the language of the prize ring this is below the belt Nobody cares about the personal credit of Mr. Carlisle. It is a well-known fact that many of our great statesmen-Clay and Webster, for instance-had money complications, or to put it another way, could not have been regarded as successful in business. They were poor men, and the fact was well known to their constituents.

Whether Mr. Carlisle is a rich man or not has nothing to do with the question He is a man of personal integrity or he would not occupy his present position. He has been in public life nearly thirty years, and we hope that he has saved something, but if he has not that fact is nothing against him and certainly can have no possible bearing upon the great economical issues he may discuss. I is no reflection upon a man's character or his ability that he is poor. There may be reason to suspect the integrity of some men who make fortunes in pub He life, but even that proves nothing as to the soundness or the weakness of their arguments.

And it is just as unfair to attack in this manner the character of the humblest citizen as it is to attack Secretary Carlisle.

A Dual Benefit. The game of baseball to be played this afternoon between the Atlanta and Montgomery teams will be the most unique ever played in the south in one respect at least, and that is the gates are to be thrown open to the public with no charge for admission. The circumstances which have led to this have been fully explained in The Constitution's news columns. It was announced yesterday that there would be no charge to grounds or grand stand, but in justice to their patrons the Atlanta management finds it necessary to make the usual charge to the grand stand. If this was not done, the grand stand would be filled up with people who will otherwise go to the bleachers and the regular grand stand patronsthe ladies and their escorts-would be crowded out.

But the Atlanta management has no desire to make a dollar out of this game and the proceeds from the sale of tickets to the grand stand will, therefore, be divided evenly between the woman's board of the exposition and the fund for the children's ward at the Grady hospital.

As Atlanta has to pay the usual guar antee for this game, it is really a loser financially by the transaction, but the directors prefer to do this rather than permit any misunderstanding such as grew out of Thursday's game to exist. So it is a dual benefit so far as grand stand seats are concerned, and there will be no charge whatever to the grounds. Owing to the necessity to catch an early train the game will be called at 1:30 o'clock.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

"One story of Judge Gresham that has never been told in a newspaper shows just what kind of a character he possessed," said a Chicago man to The Times-Herald of that city. "When he was called by President Cleveland to be secretary of state he was a poor man. His friends knew this, and the day he was named to head the cabinet ten men, five republicans and five democrats, got together and made up $50,000 to be given to Mr. Gresham. This money was put in a bank and Mr. Gresham, who was in Chicago, was called up y telephone and told there was $50,000 in certain bank in his name. The money, e was told, was his and he was told to take it and use it as an out-and-out gift from his friends. To this message, which would have stunned most men, Judge Gresh-ham made answer at once. He told the man who was at the other end of the tele phone wire that he would not accept the money. He said point-blank that he had not earned it, did not deserve it, and, while he appreciated the feelings that had prompted the gift, yet he could not and would not have anything to do with the noney. There was no opportunity for an argument in the matter. Gresham's answer was absolute, and so the ten men divided up the money they had subscribed and put it back in their own pockets."

Speaking of lawyers' fees, a little girl In Brooklyn lost both her feet by being run over by a trolley car some time ago. She sued the company and the judgment in her favor was $13,268.68. The court has now ordered the company to pay the girl's lawyer $7.244.85 as his share of the judgment, leaving the cripple girl'as her share the more modest portion of $6.023.83. Presumably the division was made in accordance with law, but it does not seem to be in accordance with justice.

THE MEMPHIS CONVENTION.

Albany Herald: The Memphis "sound memo;" convention was intended by its promoters to turn the tide of public opinion in the south from free silver coinage and bimetallism to gold monometallism. It was expected to serve as a sort of turning point in the campaign, but in this it has proven an utter failure. It was not a representative body of the people, and it has therefore failed to reach the people with the doctrines which it was intended to broadcast. Carlisle's speech and the resolutions adopted by the convention have been printed by the domeratic press of the south and picked to pieces, and the friends of free silver coinage are stronger in the faith and more numerous in the south today than before the great Memphis convention was held. In so far as it was intended to turn the tide of popular sentiment on the currency question in the seuth, the Memphis goldbug convention was a failure.

There was not a farmer or a laboring man invited, or allowed a seat in the convention; yet they claim the silver sontiment was knocked out. By their action in ignoring the workingmen we fail to see how they expect to change their ideas. In fact, the reverse has been the case. Some who were undecided are now for free silver. It was claimed by the cuckoo papers before the meeting that they would favor state banks; but they came squarely out for the single gold standard, and nothing but gold. It is now the laboring man's fight for existence. This fight lost, and the poor men will be no better off than the serf of Europe or the peons of Mexico.

QUEER THINGS IN GEORGIA.

A party of Augusta fishermen had a queen experience recently on the Georgia coast. One of the party caught a very strange inhabitant of the deep water—an oyster fish, or sea frog. It was nearly a yard long with big mouth and fierce teeth, which it snapped together when any one approached. It is called the oyster fish because, in order to eat the luscious bivalve, it has to crush the oyster's shell with its teeth. The party had a very peculiar experience one evening while at anchor, All were down in the cabin when suddenly the vessel seemed to rise an inch or two and then swayed vio-lently from side to side. All were confident this was caused by the swell from a passing steamer, but when the deck was reached no steamer was in sight. Then they real-ized that it might have been an earthquake. The most probable theory, however, is that a big shark or porpoise got under the yacht and wished to be playful in exerting its strength.

A few mornings ago Mrs. Charley Williams, of Montgomery county, went to the bedside of her sleeping infant, and upon investigation she found a chicken snake about four feet long under the pillow of her little one. The baby had been quite restless all night, hence her early visit to its couch. Several little abrasions of the skin were found about the baby's nose, but otherwise it was uninjured.

At Dawson Mr. J. W. Gammage brought in a curious looking rock to The News of-fice last week. It resembles a big Irish potato in shape, and has writing in ink here and there on it. It was plowed up in Mr. Gam-mage's field, about six miles frow Dawson, mage's held, about six miles frow Dawson, and its appearance was so unusual that it was examined carefully. Among the words on it are "Griggs," "Randolph," "the sands of time" and the figures 63. It has excited great interest.

Mr. T. B. F. Willis, of Elbert county, received a letter from his brother John Willis, of Arkansas, last Saturday. Mr. Willis left Elbert county about forty years ago and has not been back since. He was reported dead many years ago, and his relatives had long mourned him as such.

CARLISLE IN GEORGIA.

Carroll Free Press: Mr. Carlisle in his recent speech at Memphis said that he didn't understand how there could be two standards. The president and his cabinet are trying to republicanize the democratic party on this question. Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle both are pretty big men, but they can't graft upon the time-honored principles of democracy one of the leading tenets of republicanism? For the republican party as a whole has always been a gold-standard party. The records of the two parties, as shown by votes in congress for years, has been that the democratic party has been in favor of placing silver on the same footing as gold, while the republicans have opposed it. But the time has now come for the parting of the ways and we are giad of it. The days of quibbling and insincerity in the party platforms are over. There can be no more sailing under false colors. The issue is made, the greatest issue ever presented to the American people in its effect upon their future. Let the old guard of the democratic party stand to its colors and principles handed down by the fathers and may truth and right prevail.

Elberton Star: Some time since The Star was pleased to notice a disposition on the part of our neighbors in the north and east to come south for presidential timber, and the editorial of The Washington Post on this subject was heartily indorsed by us. Later developments, however, point to the fact that J. G. Carlisle is the most "available" man we have, and now we are in favor of going west or some other section. The south is not so sectional as to vote for any man calling himself a democrat, regardless of his position on important questions, simply because the accident of birth placed him on the sunny side of Mason and Dixon's line. Elberton Star: Some time since The Star Rechelle Solid South: It is claimed by the goldbug papers that Carlisle's speech in Memphis has killed the silver sentiment in the south. Carlisle once preached unlimited colnage of silver. SILVER IN GEORGIA.

Elberton Star: The goldbugs are playing a bold gather. The New York bankers, who furnish large amounts of money to the south through merchants and country banks, have issued a circular notifying them that they must stand for the single gold standard and use all their inflence against free silver. Have we so far forgotten our iranhood and lost all independence as to allow a set of New York money gamblers to dictate how we shall vote? It is an insult to southern chivairy, and should be rebuke!. The merchants and business men should meet and notify the aforesaid motey sharks that they are free and do not propose to be intimidated or bought. Next, New York will be nominating all our officers, both state and federal, from a congressman to a justice of the peace.

Carroll Free Press: The democratic party

carroll Free Press: The democratic party has always been a bimetallic party until Cleveland came upon the seen. The doctrine of the party has always been, as enacted in all of its platforms, that silver should be coined on equal terms, as a joint standard with gold. Its very last platform declared just as strongly as language could be made that silver should be treated the same as gold at the mints. We know that there was also a question of ratio also in the platform, but as to free coinage there was no quibbling. Of course, the ratio question was one that had to be settled after silver had been given the same chance as gold. There was no other fair way of determining that question. But notwithstanding the record of the democratic party, we find that the president and his cabiret are coming out squarely for gold as the only standard.

Griffin News: Bimetallic is a good word,

Griffin News: Bimetallic is a good word, Grinn News: Esthetaine is a good word, but just now it is in too much discredit from heing used by gold monometallists to cloak their ideas. After they have permanently discarded it, we may take it up again, for we believe in both gold and silver.

Albany Herad: Look at the condition of England. She has the gold standard, Does America want it? This is one of Coin's questions that has never been answered. Americus Times-Recorder: The democratic party must stand for the rights and interests of the masses, or be false to its history and its principles.

The Smithville Enterprise is rejoicing over the return of the lost sheep. Editor Blanton says of the goldbugs:

the return of the lost sheep. Editor Blanton says of the goldbugs:

"Hence you see, they are few and far between, Two years ago Lee county was a Cleveland stronghold, but one by one, like the roses fall, they have deserted him, realizing at last that Clevelandism meant ruin and disaster to the masses, and riches and luxuries for the classes. The last to desert the goldbug camp are Captain John W. Forrester and Sheriff E. B. Martin, Both were ardent admirers of President Cleveland up to a week or two ago, and both believed that the president's idea of finance was the best for the people. They purchased a copy of that wonderful little book. 'Coin's Financial School,' and now see where they are 'at.'

"You may say,' said Captain Forrester to The Enterprise man last Saturday, 'that I am no longer a Cleveland man. I am convinced that the free coinage of silver at 15 to 1 is right, and from now on I am with you.'

16 to 1 is right, and from now on I am with you."

"Yes,' said Sheriff E. B. Martin, 'I am for free coinage at 16 to 1, but it was 'Coin's Financial School' that opened my eyes.

"The Enterprise is delighted to welcome Captain Forrester and Sheriff Martin to the free silver ranks. They are valuable acquisitions to the people's cause. We are not selfish, neither do we want the earth; but the good book tells us that 'there is more rejoicing over one sinner that repents than over ninety-and-nine just persons who need no repentance." Therefore, our heart yearns for the lonesome four; our misguided politically uncircumcised brethren; and we are willing to leave the 3.996 in the 'shelter of the fold' and go out after them that all the goldburgs may know that their cake is dough in the grand old county of Lee."

The Albany Herald has this note on fifth district politics:

"It is early yet to spring a congressional campaign, but the fifth district is already assuming shape. Colonel Albert H. Cox. of Atlanta, has announced himself as a candidate to oppose Hon. Leonidas Livingston. Colonel Cox is a lawyer, and bases his candidacy on being a 'sound money' man. Your Uncle Lon is a free silver democrat, and is capable of keeping the flies oft of any man in his district. There will be lively times in the fifth."

From The Augusta Chronicl Editor Clark Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution, was the orator of the day at the annual convention at Sumfer, S. C., on yesterday, of the South Carolina Press Association. We publish this morning in another column the excellent address which he delivered. It was throughout an appeal for a cessation of factional differences, and for a patriotic compliance with the will of the majority. He cited them to the brilliant history of Carolina's past, and painted a picture of her glowing future. He urged against internal dissensions, and advised that Carolina make peace with the union. He denounced in ringing terms the nineteenth century tory, and made a patriotic apreal for the maintenance of American independence. The following eloquent pero-ration is the keynote of the address; "Let your active and your patriotic press take up the cause of peace-instill into the hearts of the people state pride and loyalty, and love for the union and the flag of our common country.

"The destiny of your state is written in its fertile valleys, in the priceless deposits of its soil, in its busy mills, its great ocean front and its kingly citizenship. The division of a day will pass like the clouds at night, and the dawn of the new day will unveil a vision of happiness and prosperity which will crown Carolina's brow with a diadem of matchless wealth and wreathe her with laurels of perpetual contentment. God speed the day!"

world were all at war just twenty-four hours ago. They were sitting up in Judge Speer's courtroom in Macon tearing their hair and equirming rather uncomfortably in their chairs, pouring all manner of bad tales into the ears of their respective lawyers about

There had been no late sign of an in clination to a settlement, though it is known now that an attempt had been made the night before the officials left Atlanta for Macon to bring about a slightly more harmonious feeling among the railroad giants who were at war. The case went on and still no signs of a settlement were in sight until somebody winked and declared that they wanted to see the leading counsel on the other side out in the side room. Seaboard Didn't Want No Report.

It seems the hitch came when the Sea-board failed to show an inclination to make a report of its traffic management ce all this trouble began. The associated roads held that the Sea-board must make a full report of its transactions so that all of the members of the sociation might know just what was go-

There was quite a hitch on this one oint and it is known that this is what has always been the great bone of con-tention between the Seaboard and the asso-

Several months ago when all the trouble first arose between the association and the Seaboard, a committee of three was sent from the association to confer with the Seaboard officials: That committee consisted of Mr. Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern; Major J. W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and Mr. Harry Walters, president of the Atlantic Coast Line. The committee asked that the Seaboard should desist from its irregular practice in cutting rates here and there, and on behalf of the association tried to bring about a settle-ment of the difficulties without forcing the Seabcard to the punishment of a refusal of rangements for traffic save local rates—in other words the boycott.

They asked that the Seaboard should have its books inspected and published to the members of the association, and this was the point upon which the Seaboard refused to meet the committee's demands. It was from this time that the boycott was planned as the only course left the association.

History of the Litigation. When the Seaboard saw that the Southern Railway and Steamship Association reant everything that had been conveyed to it by this committee of three, and when it vas clear that the boycott would certainly take effect, a sult was planned on the part of the Seaboard to offset the boy-cott. It was decided to make the attack, not upon the associated lines, but upon the Western and Atlantic and the Nash-ville, Chattanooga and St. Ibuis, with which the Seaboard had a contract for terminal facilities here at Atlanta, which it construed as meaning that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis was always bound to give the Seaboard just as ad-vantageous rates as it would give all the other roads. In this contract it hoped to find an instrument that would prevent the Western and Atlantic and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis from entering the boycott that had been declared. The suit was brought in the superior court of Fulton and was tried there, resulting in a decision from Judge Lumpkin unfa-vorable to the Seaboard. The Scaboard's vorable to the Seaboard. The Scaboard's attorneys filed a biff of exceptions in the case, which is now before the Georgia supreme court. This suit was followed up by the suit which terminated yesterday before the federal court in Macon.

The friendly settlement of the litigation before the United States court over which Judge Speer presides will pullfy all worth.

Judge Speer presides will nullify all pend-ing disturbances and there will be absolute ing disturbances and there will be absolute peace in the future between the warring the railroads of the south. Rates Will Go Up Once More.

The passenger rates between Atlanta and

New York and other eastern points will be raised to the former notch by the Seaboard Air-Line. When the associated lines declared the boycott, the Seaboard announced that it would cut the passenger rates from Atcut the passenger rates from Atlanta to eastern points just half. It put the cheap tickets on sale with a sudden-ness frighful to contemplate and since that time it has been war to the knife between the competing lines to the east, though the Southern has never yet met he cut rates of the Seaboard by any published schedule of reduced fares

They Won't Talk About It. There seems to be an owl-like silence on the part of the big railroad guns who returned yesterday from Macon, as to the details of the doings of the day's busi-

The terms of agreement between the association and the Seaboard were confidential and secret and none of the officials or the attorneys who were there will say a word concerning what was done, save to explain with a smile that every-thing is settled and the white wings of peace flutter over their heads. When Commissioner Stahlman was seen by The Constitution's representative last night and asked about the compromise, he night and asked about the compromise, he shook his head, smiled and replied:

"Oh, well, in compromises there is always wisdom, justice and moderation, and of course both sides always have to make some concessions. Matters have been adjusted very satisfactorily, however, to all parties concerned and there will be no more hard feeling, no more warfare."

Mr. Henry Crawford, attorney for the suthern railway, when seen on his return from Macon last night and asked for particulars concerning the settlement, replied: "Everything has been smoothed.

replied: "Everything has been smoothed downed, and the situation is much more pleasant to all."

Mr. Leslie Ryan, attorney for the South-ern, made a similar statement even more indefinitely referring to the terms of the

John H. Winder, of the Seaboard, would give nothing more definite than the would give nothing indeed if his company would return to the folds of the association in the near future, now that the differences were all adjusted, he replied: "It all depends upon the articles of agreement that are adopted at the next annual meeting of the Southern Railway and Steam. ing of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association whether we will or not. I cannot tell at present."

Nothing has come up in the railroad world for the past five or six years so im-portant as this line of litigation the Sea-board has been forcing against the association of railroads that cover this entire region of country. The suit affected the interests of all the roads for it was a stab at the very heart and life of the association and left with the federal court to decide whether such organizations are legal or not.

In this light it is easy to see how im portant was the harmonious adjustment of the case.

SOME WHO WERE THERE.

The Litigation Brought the Heavy-

Weights Into Judge Speer's Court. Macon, Ga., May 31.-(Special.)-When the United States court convened this morning to hear the injunction of the Seaboard Air-Line against the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, attorneys announced to Judge Speer that a compfo mise of the matter was possible without entering into the trial of the case. Court took recess until 12:30 o'clock, and on reconvening, the attorneys announced that an agreement had been reached. Whereupon, Judge Speer signed the following order.

'On complainants' motion, it is ordered that this case be passed and the restrain ing order granted is dissolved, without prejudice to complainants' rights to hereafter move in said matter and case."

The Constitution's correspondent is re-liably informed that the terms of settle ment are that the boycott on the Seaboar Air-Line shall be promply lifted. After long consultation, all parties consented to this. This being done, it is understood that the bill is to be dismissed, and each party will pay half the cost. The Seaboard Air-Line to keep the legal rates fixed by the state and interstate railroad commissi It was a very remarkable and brilliant spectacle in the courtroom and corridors. There was Mr. Henry Crawford, of Chicago, whose onslaught on Judge Speer, ad-dressed to Judge Pardee, at Savannah, several years ago, is remembered. Since then it is said that Mr. Crawford has drawn up a reorganization contract for the Central almost in the same terms of that which he assailed. He is a bright, alertwhich he assailed. He is a bright, alert looking man, and does not seem to be troubled about a consistent record. He kept shaking his head when the settlement was proposed, was not satisfied and want-ed to fight. He was the first to call with Mr. Comer this morning to pay his respects to the judge. There, too, was Judge Baxter's large form and clear-cut, intel-lectual face. His great speech yesterday before the supreme court unfolding the history of the scheme by which railroad men get business, is the talk of al the lawyers present. There was Mr. Cunningham, of Savannah, who looks like a sturdy Scotch-Irishman, and the graceful and courtly Major Cumming, of Augusta, the preux chevaller of them all. Jack Spalding was there with his striking resemblance Abraham Lincoln in appearance and lan-guage, and Alex King, who brings from the seaboard of South Carolina much of the legal ability of that section made famous Pettigrew, the Rutledges and Pinckneys Watts, of Norfolk, leading counsel for the Seaboard Air-Line, is a typical Virginian of the old school. When you meet him one insensibly recalls the memories of the Greenbrier White and the mint juleps concocted there. Mr. Ryan, counsel for the Southern, is a tall, handsome gen tleman, a son of the chief justice of Wis-consin, who came from Washington to aid the United States court in Georgia There, too, was Fleming duBignon, whose every movement is graceful as a thorough-bred, and when speaking, unconsciously assumes the attitude of Henry Clay when addressing the senate, and not a few Georgians hope he will soon be there. The stately and gracious Winston, of Spartanburg, S. C., was there for the Southern. There, too, were "Bunch" MeBee, Colonel Winder, Mr. Hoffman and Mr. St. John, all of the Seaboard Air-Line. The familiar face of Mr. Comer might have been seen with his sharp eyes ever looking out for the interest of the Central, and a large number of other railroad men, youthful and handsome.

The judge was on hand bright and early, before 9 o'clock, and turned easily from the consideration of the vendettas of Telfair county and the lair of Lucius Wil-liams in the Ocmulgee swamp, to consider the great questions of railroad transportation involved in the case before him. From time to time he adjourned the court, at the request of counsel, expressing his gratification at the prospects of a settle ment, and the settlement was made. It seems that the Seaboard Air-Line, on promise of good behavior, got all it wanted, and thus, at least for the present, what promised to be one of the most notable cases of the times was adjusted, a result for which all the security holders of all the properties may congratulate themselves, for litigation at best means loss and delay to the security holders, and embarrassment and dis-order to the business public. Macon sends greetings to the great railroad centers of the country and suggests if they have any further complaints to adjust, she has here the facilities for the adjustment.

MR. SHEPARD'S PROMOTION.

An Old Georgia Boy Gets a High Place

with the Louisville and Nashville. Taking effect today, the appointment of Mr. F. C. Shepard, as general freight agent, at Montgomery, Ala., for the Louisville and Nashville, is announced, Mr Shepard succeeds Mr. Theodore Welch, de

There are many friends and acquaint ances of Mr. Shepard in this city who will learn of his promotion with great interest and peasure.

The career of Mr. Shepard is both interesting and picturesque. He is an old Georgia boy, born and raised near Atlanta, and entered the railroad business with the determination to succeed at the lowest round of the ladder, starting out as night operator with the Louisville and Nashville. Since that time he has worked his way onward and upward. He was made spe-cial agent of the same road and, by his many qualifications and irrepressible determination, he rose to the position of general freight agent of the Pensacola and Atlantic division of the Louisville and Nashville. This position he held until he was appointed general agent for the same road in New Orleans; which position he filled most efficiently until his recent promotion to the office of general freight agent, with headquarters at Montgomery. There is no railroad man in the south with more promise, and all of his friends in Atlanta and elsewhere rejoice with him in reaping the full measure of honors which he so richly deserves.

THE LOUISVILLE SOUTHERN.

Speculation as to the Future Management of the Cincinnati Southern. There is a great deal of interest in the future development resulting from the re-cent shake-up by which the Southern rail-way secured part control of the Cincinnati

Everybody wants to know how the patronage in traffic and operating departments will be divided.

It is believed that, for the present, there wil be few changes in the personnel of the Cincinnati Southern, but it is thought that later there will be considerable con-centration of operating forces and consolidation of offices.

By the terms of the new contract between the Southern and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, recently made, the Louisville Southern will go back into the hands of the Cincinnati Southern. It is to be operated directy under the manage-ment of the Cincinnati Southern and will be treated as a part of the system. Under these terms, the freight traffic of the Louis-ville Southern will be under the direction and supervision of Horace F. Smith, general freight agent of the Queen and Cres-sideration in this contract is said to lie in a certain arrangement for the inter-charge of traffic, through which all lines interested expect to receive benefit.

One fact that had much to do in prompt ing the Southern railway people to enter into the contract is the isolation of the main lines. The distance between the ter-minus of the Louisville Southern and the Southern proper is the distance between Burgin, Ky., and Harriman Junction, Tenn., or 149 miles. In order to reach Har-riman Junction, the nearest connection with the Southern railway, traffic from the Louisville Southern must necessarily go on Louisyille Southern must necessarily go on the track of the Cincinnati Southern over these 149 miles. The officials concerned in the contract, it is said, came to the conclusion that the natural and reasonable way of managing the Louisyille Southern, therefore, lay in making it again a part of the Queen and Crescent system.

The Louisville Southern extends from Louisville to Lexington, Ky., and has branches to Burgin and Georgetown, connecting at all three of the latter points with the Cincinnati Southern. The mileage is 130. This property was once before operated by the Queen and Crescent system, but when reorganized it became a part of the Southern railway. This was less than a year ago. Notwithstanding the contract with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, it is undefisted that the Southern Railway Company will still protect the securities covering the Louisville Southern.

Mr. Sol Haas, assistant to the president of the Southern railway, is in the city, having been here several days attending to business for the company. He is accompanied by his well-known secretary, Mr. Edmonton, time, was chief. nled by his well-known set wards, who for so long a time was chief clerk to Mr. S. H. Hardwick, assistant general passenger agent of the system, with headquarters in this city.

Mr. Fred Bush, southeastern passenger agent for the Louisville and Nashville, is being loudly praised for the many courtersies he extended to the visiting conductors who recently held their blendial convention in this city. Mr. Bush is an old conductor himself and was the first man to bring a train into Atlanta over the Atlanta and Charlotte railroad.

Charlotte railroad.

Now that peace has been declared between the Southern Railway and Steamship Association and the Seaboard Air-Line, there is much gossip rife as to who will be the hero of the compromise. For weeks and days the Seaboard has been treating the Southern Railway and Steamship Association with such hospitality as a monkey would be expected to treat the proverbial parrot, and the association has played its full part as the aforesaid parrot, so it is interesting to know who was the first tocome to their senses in the matter.

There seems to be little daylight ahead.

come to their senses in the matter.

There seems to be little daylight ahead for the poor old Central of Georgia. The plans for reorganization have been hanging fire so long that even the most enthusiastic reorganizer has begun to feel that there is a limit to patience and that hope deferred maketh the heart awfully sick. Just what will be the outcome nobody seems to know. The latest from New York is to the effect that the reorganizers are waiting for the arrival of Mr. Piermont Morgan from Europe to act as general arbiter in all the wrangles that are delaying the reorganization.

If rumors and dreams come true and the Southern railway should join hands with the Southern Pacific and run a through train from New York to San Francisco through Atlanta this fall when the Southern Pacific puts on its "Sunset Limited" train again, the sensation of the railroad world of America will have been sprung.

MIDWAY HEIGHTS.

Name Selected at Last by the Executive Board.

WAS DECIDED AFTER A FURIOUS FIGHT

It Was a Compromise Between the Name Championed by Mr. Alex Smith and Mr. Harry Atkinson.

"Midway Heights" -- how does it sound? After a flerce debate, a war of words that lasted long and caused several exciting clashes, this name was finally selected yesterday by the executive board for that boulevard on the expesition grounds whereon shall be collected all the oddities, eccen tricities and miscellaneous attractions of the earth.

"Midway Heights." a name out of 20,-000, and when the people gather and throng the vistas of the great show, the name will still remain a reminder of the furious fight of yester eve.

The fact that it is a hybrid will not lessen the popularity of this name. It was a merging of the two names, a compromise between the "Pleasure Heights," championed by Mr. Alex Smith, and "The Midselected by the special committee appointed at the former meeting of the board. But now the question is finally settled and during the months to come "Midway Heights" will be a name on every torgue.

There was a full attendance when the executive board was called to order yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. There were a few minor details of routine work transacted before the report of the special committee appointed last week for selecting the name was called on

They Wanted Midway. Mr. Harry M. Atkinson, who was chairman of the committee, announced in a determined way that the name "Midway" had been selected. As soon as the name was announced Mr. Alex Smith, who, at the last meeting, was opposed by Mr. Atkinson, arose to state his objections to the name selected by the special committee. He had thought that 'Pleasure Heights' was the best name The report of the special committee was not in accordance with his idea of appro-priate nomenclature. The earnestness of Mr. Smith in his arument was almost pathetic.

The exposition in Atlanta was independent of all precedents. He seriously object ed to taking any name that was used at the world's fair. There was something in the word "midway" that did not exactly suit or apply properly to the site in question. The word 'heights' must be used. There was something too flat in sim-ply "midway" and he moved a recommitted of the subject to the committee on privieges and concessions

Was Put to a Vote. The question was put to a vote, which resulted in a tie of 7 to 7. Captain English was in the chair and it rested upon his wote to break the deadlock and decide, was a responsibility greater than he cared to assume. He had noticed that some of the members had refused to vote, so he announced in an authoritative way that all would be forced to vote. The motion to recommit was lost.

Immediately and energetically Mr. Smith argued. He moved that the name "Midway Heights" be substituted. This was a sign for a battle royal, in which Mr. Smith as the champion of the committee on privi-leges and concessions was pitted against the members of the special committee.
Messrs. Cabaniss, Amorous and Governor Bullock were all opposed to the name. They wanted no hybrid. The name Midway was sufficient. It was easy to pronounce. It was popular, It expressed all and it was their opinion that of the 20,000 names which from time to time had been sub-mitted this was decidedly the mest suita-ble. The arguments were masterpieces of eloquence and force. The vote was finally taken and the chairman was about to an nounce in favor of "Midway Heights," when a division was called for, Still there were some who had not voted and Captain English insisted on a full vote. By the change of the vote of Mr. Kontz the tide concessions and privileges and the name "Midway Heights" was "selected. A Badge for the Directors.

official badge of the directors was selected yesterday afternoon. It will be work on all public occasions. This badge will bear the seal of the exposition, but across the breast of the pheonix, will be stamped the word director. The work will be neat and catchy in design and has been selected after an inspection of numerous samples. Mr. Alex Smith, who had the selection in charge, has been in correspondence with numerous jewelers and various designs have been submitted.

For the Woman's Work.

A communication was read before the board by Mr. Collier from Mrs. Thompson, president of the woman's board, asking for president of the woman's board, asking for an appropriation of bonds for the woman's building. The space in the woman's building is greatly in demand. There is already a woeful insufficiency of space, and as an instance, the women of New York have applied for more space than can possibly be spared, and continued demands from other places are in proportion. But the women have gone to work in earnest. They are asking for all assistance that cay be are asking for all assistance that can be given. The matter of bonds was referred to the finance committee.

every chair in Browning hall was ed yesterday at noon when President on Underwood rapped for order, an-cing that the public exercises of the Aleiphronian Literary and Debating Society were ready to begin.

Several members of the board of education were present, in addition to quite a number of prominent citizens. These were present in response to the handsome invitations issued by the boys.

Special seats were reserved for the young ladies of the Girls' High school, who complimented the boys by their presence at the exercises. The girls are always specially invited, as the boys are largely dependent upon their smiles for inspiration.

The attendance yesterday was perhaps larger than ever before. The hall was comfortably filled long before the time for the exercises to begin.

As soon as the flutter of conversation ceased, Professor Slaton arose in his dignified and graceful manner and delivered.

The subject selected for the day's discussion was: "Resolved, That the career of Napoleon is defensible."
The disputants were: Messrs. Garrard Glenn, Stiles Hopkins and S. P. Watson for the affirmative, and Messrs. John for the affirmative, and Messrs. John Chapman, H. O. Cox, M. Bell and J. E. McGuire for the negative.
It was a lively discussion, and each young disputant was thoroughly prepared.

Secretaries—Harmon Cox, Harry Hale, Robert B. Ridley, Fred Cerf, Judge A. Krouse and Henry C. Heinz.
The order preserved during the exercises bore eloquent testimony of the discipline of the Boys' High school under the able principalship of Professor W. M. Slaton. There is not a better disciplinarian in the south than Professor Slaton, nor a man that is better qualified intellectually for the duties of his position. The faculty is a very strong one, and the work of the year has been in the highest degree satisfactory.

A Life-Size Portrait of H. I. Kimball Will Be Donated the City.

Yesterday morning Hon. Albert Howell, chairman of the committee appointed from the city council last Monday to arrange for the placing of the portrait of Mr. H. I. Kimball in the city council chamber, had a meeting of his committee. The gentlemen composing this committee are unanimous in saying that the painting must be hung upon the walls among the other hung upon the walls among the other paintings of those who have been prominent in making Atlanta the great city she now is, they all thinking this action or, the part of the city will be a graceful tribute to the memory of Mr. Kimball.
Few men have lived who have been more instrume tal in assisting the material growth of Atlanta than Mr. Kimball. It was he who gave Atlanta the Kimball house and assisted materially in the first

Mr. Howell is enthusiastic in his work and believes that an elegant portrait of Mr. Kimball will be donated the city free of any cest whatever.

Mr. Howell stated last night that the arrangements would all be completed in a few days and he was confident that the pertrait would be secured and placed in pertrait would be secured and placed in position.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECAST

. Last night barometric pressure was high in the southeast and low in the northwest. This distribution has given a continuation of hot weather over nearly all the co east of the Rocky mountains. Except in the extreme west and northwest, where there has been a fall, temperatures were generally above 80 degrees at 3 p. m., and during the day many maximums went above 30 degrees. Weather was generally clear, and except very light showers at Corpus Christi, Tex., New Orleans, La., North Platte, Neb., and Rapid City, S. D., no rain had fallen. The Grand Jury Met To Investigate the Johnson Murder.

WITNESSES WERE PRESENT

A Peculiar Land Suit on Trial Before Judge Lumpkin-It Has Many Interesting Features.

The Fulton county grand jury met yesterday morning for the purpose of taking up the case of Cord Howlsworth, who is suspected of having had a hand in the murder of Motorman Johnson.

It was understood, so court officials state, that the witnesses were to have been sum-moned by Coroner Paden, but somehow there were no witnesses present yesterday morning and the case could not be consid-

The killing of Motorman Johnson is a recent affair. He was returning from the power house, where he had gone to put up his car, and his attention was attracted to two negroes who were fighting. He interfered at once and made himself the subject of a vicious attack.

In the fight that followed some one threw a brick or rock, which crushed the motor-man's skull and felled him insensible to the ground. He never recovered consciousness and would probably not have been able to recognize his assailants.

Detective Bedford, who has been working on the case, says that he feels sure that Howlsworth is the guilty man and that it can be proved by the six witnesses who appeared before the coroner's jury. The grand jury will probably hold a meeting early next week. Several minor cases were disposed of yesterday. A Peculiar Case in Progress.

The case of Annie Dixon against Francis C. Hitchins was called yesterday in the superior court. It is a case that resembles that of Bob Yancey in a small degree.
The Dixon was in a small degree.

Dixon woman is a mulatto, and in her petition for the recovery of proper-ty and the cancellation of a mortgage, she tells a sensational story. The allegations are that she owned a house and lot in Atlanta and met Hitchins four years ago. He was a stock dealer. He wanted her to go with him to his home in Texas, and she finally consented, going with him as far as New Or-leans. In this city he told her, she claims, that a brother of her former employer was seeking to secure possession of the property and that in order to prevent him from do-ing it, she deeded it to Hitchins. He then came to Atlanta and went back to New Orleans, where she insisted that he convey the property back to her, which he did.

They went on together to Eagle Pass, Tex., where she remained with him while he was buying horses. While on their way to San Antonio they were forced to camp out, and the woman alleges that the deed was taken from the trunk in which she had placed it for safe keeping at the suggestion of Hitchins. She alleges that Hitchins has mortgaged the property for $2,100 and she wants to get the mortgage canceled and secure the property.

The plaintiff is represented by Hillien

The plaintiff is represented by Hillyer Alexander & Lambdin and the defendant by Rosser & Carter. Suing for $5,000 Panitive Damages.

A suit for $5,000 damages was filed yes-terday by J. A. Punch, of this county, against M. W. Johnson, of Fulton county, and Sheriff P. J. O'Connor and Deputy Sheriff E. E. Pritchard, the last two being officers of Richmond county.

Punch alleges that he went to Augusta on April 25th, and a few days later was arrested on a warrant sworn out by M. W. Johnson, charging him with cheating and swindling. He alleges that Sheriff O.Con-nor arrested him and put him in jail, re-fusing to take him to Fulton county, although the warrant was only good for this place. He alleges that he pleaded with the sheriff to bring him to Atlanta, where he had friends, but that the sheriff and the deputy were obdurate and it was only after sixteen days that he was brought here He also alleges that he demanded a trial and that Johnson failed to appear and Justice Orr dismissed the case. He also alleges that the warrant was based on malice alone

TO MEET IN WASHINGTON.

The Southeastern Tariff Association

Meets on June 5th. The officers and members of the South-eastern Tariff Association are preparing for the session which will be called in Washington next week. The association will be called to order by its president, Mr. Thomas Egleston, who will go on Monday. The other members of the association in Atlanta will go on to Washington in a special vestibuled train, prepared for the occasion by the Southern railroad. Several affairs will be brought before the association, but the question of rates will probably occupy the entire session of two days. The meeting is called for June 5th.

All of the Officere Were Re-elected Unanimously-A Del ght:ul Luncheon

After a three days' session the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association adjourned yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, all the business of the convention having been completed.

The principal features of the meeting yesterday were the election of officers, which proved to be a re-election, all the old officers being renamed for their several positions, and the selection of Richmond, Va., as the next place of meeting.

Last night the delegations began to leave the city for their respective homes. The Richmond delegation left at 9 o'clock and the delegations from New Orleans, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Memphis, Montgomery, Birmingham, Anniston and

The report was that the time for permarent headquarters had not arrived yet and that there was no necessity as yet of designating the place that they were to be put for all time in the future. The reference to the efficiency of the association was highly gratifying.

Then followed the report of the committee on snuff, of which C. N. Churchill is chairman. The report was an interesting and was adopted.

Richmond Swept the Deck. The next matter before the body was the selection of the next place of meeting. The Richmond delegation, fifteen strong, put their city into the field for the convention and Richmond was selected without a Secretary Hooker retired from the room and non-inations were asked for. It was an extraorcirarily unarimous election. One member nominated Mr. Hooker to succeed himself and the rest announced that nominated him. One man seconded him and the others followed suit and then everybody voted for him. A committee of three, headed by Mr. J. E. Maddox, was appointed to notify Mr. Hooker of his election. When he re-entered the meeting room he was loudly applauded and accepted in a few words of thanks.

Secretary Hooker richly deserves the unanimous re-election he received. He is a man of tireless energy and one who is always ready to point out any information or to pause to secure any necessary paper that a member may desire. Secretary Hooker is now located at Richmond, Va., The first association meeting was held though he is a resident of Knoxville. He

He was then elected by a rising vote and in accepting the re-sponsibility of the presidency of the asso-ciation he made an earnest and eloquent talk, such as he is always capable of under President E. G. Leigh was elected to the presidency of the association last year in New Orleans, He succeeded Captain J. H. Martin, of Memphis. President Leigh is a very modest man and is inclined to remain in the background, something which his friends persistently refuse to permit him to do. He lives at Richmond, Va., to which city the meeting of next year goes.

W. B. Lockett Re-Elected.

The election of the first vice president followed the election of president. Mr. W. B. Lockett, of Knoxville, was nominated. He was elected last year in New Orleans and began his office at the same time Mr. Leigh assumed charge. His election was Although Mr. Lockett has all his interests in Knoxville and claims that city as his home, his family was originally from Georgia. His father went from Georgia to New Orleans, where he engaged in the cotton business. Mr. W. B. Lockett was born in Mississippi and graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1881. He is not yet thirty-five, although he is president of the local organization of wholesale men at Knoxville, and is senior member of the firm of Lockett & Co.

It was at Knoxville, as the members of the association will recall, that the South-ern Wholesale Grocers' Association was given a start. Besides being president of the local organization Mr. Lockett is inter-ested in one of the principal banks of Knox-ville and one of the largest companies.

Second Vice President Re-Elected. When the call was made for nominations for a second vice president several members claimed the floor at the same time and all were unanimous in nominating Mr. W. F. Vandiver, of Montgomery. He was Complete Summer Folder.

Beginning June 1st the summer excurall over the country, both seashore mountain. The rotter are about the same as last summer and heretofore a great many of these tickets have been sold by the Southern railway line. The Southern reaches nearly all of the resorts and does a large summer excursion and tourist bus! ness. Early in the season the rush of tourist business is to the seashore resorts, St. Simon's, Cumberland, Morehead City, etc., and later a great many people go to the mountains of western Carolina and East Tennessee, as well as to the resorts of the west and northwest. The Southers Railway has issued a very handsome and complete summer excursion folder, which can be had upon application to the ticket This folder is com agents of the road. This folder is complete, giving a description of the resorts and hotels, hotel rates and also the summer excursion rates. It is a nice piece of advertising and will do a great deal toward adding to the summer business of the Southern railway.

The Closing Exercises of the Public Schools Next Week.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE LAST DAY

The Graduating Exercises of the Two High Schools at the Grand.

NEXT FRIDAY IN THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Education Next Saturday-Election of Teachers.

The public schools of the city will close for the term next week. Already the preparations for the last day of school have commenced in good earnest, and rehearsals are now the order of the day, not only during the school exercises, but after the close of each day's session.

Dialogues, recitations, musical selections and the usual features incident to the closing exercises are daily assuming the proper degree of excellence, and by the time next Friday arrives with its gorgeous display of ribbons every pupil in the public schools will be ready to reflect credit upon the system.

The grammer schools will close for the session next Friday at noon. The exercises will begin promptly at 9 o'clock, and will continue steadily for three hours. Each grade will be decorated for the occasion, and the patrons of the school will receive a warm welcome both from the teachers and the pupils. The decorations will consist of blackboard drawings and floral displays. In addition to these ornamental devices of greeting, the children will be dressed in their best Sunday suits and will present a beautiful picture to the visitors on that day.

For two or three weeks the children have been standing their final examina-This is a trying ordeal through which they must pass in order to demonstrate their fitness for promotion. These examinations will be concluded next Wednesday, and the averages for the year will be made out on Thursday afternoon. It will be impossible to announce the honors before next Friday morning.

The public school exercises this year will be unusually interesting, and a special in-vitation is extended to the patrons and friends of all the public schools in the city. Exercises of Graduation.

These will appear before the footlights. These yearly exercises, under the direction of yearly exercises, under the direction of Miss Nettle Sergeant, are perhaps the most brilliant of their kind in the south, and they never fail to draw. Last year it was estimated, that fully 3,000 people crowded into the opera house, filling not only the galleries, but thronging the vestibules and the aisles.

The exercises this year will consist of four essays by the first and second honor girls in the business and literary departments, musical renditions and marches. The marches will be, as usual, the most be-witching feature of the exercises, and preparations are now under way for making them more enchanting than ever.
Tickets will be issued to the exercises, the price being 25 cents. They will be issued in coupons, one of them being for the boys' and the other for the girls' graduating exercises.

The tickets will be on sale early next

Surgical Institute

72 South Pryor Street,

ATLANTA GEORGIA:

Established 1874.

Since February, 1874, this institution has been actively and continuously engaged in the treatment of chronic diseases and deformities, and its work has been done so quietly and so free from parade and laudation that very few, except those cured, know of the varied and splendid facilities employed and the wonderful results secured. The methods employed embrace manual and mechanical massage, thermal and vacuum treatment, vibratory and oscillating motions Turkish. Russian thermal, neeand electric baths; Swedish movements, static, faradic and galvanic electricity, the application of the kneeding, rubbing and brushing appliances, physical culture, etc., etc. Indeed the best and most successful facilities known to hygienists are employed as well as many new mechanical devices peculiar to this institute alone.

Among the affections cured may be menfalling of the womb, leucorrhoea, painful, frequent, profuse, scanty and irregular menstruation, ulceration and laceration of the womb, diseased ovaries, dyspensia, constipation, general nervous debility, affections of the kidneys, liver and bladder neurasthenia, 'nervous prostration, "that tired feeling," insomnia, malnutrition and assimilation and all the train of evils brought on by overwork, dissipation

New York, May 31 .- The stock market was comparatively quiet today, the transactions footing up 176,509 shares, of which 141, 00 were listed and 35,000 unlisted. The giry ran chiefly to the specialties and industrials, although the railway list was not neglected by any means. London bought a small line of St. Paul and other of its favorites, but not enough to have any influence on the market. The Gran-gers were in somewhat better request, and gers were in somewhat better request, and closed generally a fraction better on the day, the reports from the west that much needed rains had fallen having checked the selling in this group. The low-priced fancies, however, were the features. Mobile and Ohio rose from 23 to 27; Flint and Pere Marquette preferred from 43 to 45; New England from 43½ to 45; Pacifile Mail from 27½ to 29½. Tennessee Coal and Iron from 28 to 29½. New England was in demand on reports that the Rhode Island legislature had passed a bill satisfactory to the reorganization committee, while Tennessee Coal and Iron improved on the further rise in southern pig iron. The Anthracite Coalers were strong except for Susquehanna and Western preferred, which dropped from 32½ to 23½@30. The decline was due to an unfounded rumor that the interest due on the Wilkesbarre and Eastern bonds would not be paid. Among the trunk fines. First was heavy and felt to ern bonds would not be paid. Among the trunk lines, Erie was heavy, and fell to 10½. The belief is now quite general that the stockholders will be heavily assessed under the proposed reorganization plan in order to liquidate the floating debt, as well as to provide capital for improvements. Manhattan was again heavy, the denial by a prominent director of the story that the dividend on the stock would be reduced having failed to check the selling. The stock declined to 112% and later recovered to 114. In the Industrials the special feature was the strength of Rubber, Cordage, ture was the strength of Rubber, Cordage, Distillers, Chicago Gas, General Electric and Sugar. Rubber rose 2% to 47%@46½; Distillers 1 to 21½; General Electric % to 55%; Chicago Gas % to 74½; Sugar 1½ to 75%, and Cordage preferred 1½ to 75%@75%. Bache & Co. were prominent sellers. The talk on Distilling and Cattle Feeding after the close Wednesday was a repetition of that current for several days. Bulls said the effort to get the price down was manipulation in the interest of buyers. The bears said the stock was going down on the bad condition of the company's trade and finances.

Strong bull points are beginning to come Strong bull points are beginning to come on General Electric from quarters which were conspicuously bearish at the time the negotiations were pending with the Westinghouse Company. It is said the retirement of Mr. Mills and Mr. Twombly has resulted in greater concentration of the company's affairs in the hands of certain people who bestified to take much active part while hesitated to take much active part while these gentlemen held the position they did, but who now have become quite aggressive and believe they will be able to work great changes in the way of improvement in operations so as to bring about better net results. It is stated that they have themserves increased their interest in the company also by purchasing the stock, and on this buying by inside sources come the re-ports of a bull movement on the way. Sugar was erratic and finally gained over 1 per cent on buying, credited to an operator over the rail.

Gas was firmer on a more promising legislative outlook in Illinois.

Rubber advanced nearly 2 per cent, but reacted 1 per cent later. The preferred gained 1 per cent.

General Electric was sustained by the reopening of negotiations for a business agreement with the Westinghouse Company.

Distilling and Cattle Feeding was only steady, but the Influstrials, as a whole, had a better tone.

Tennessee Coal and Iron rose 1 per cent on a further advance in southern pig iron.

Pacific Mail advanced over 1 per cent on the good effect produced by the company's annual report.

Ohio was believed to foreshadow a favora

The Grangers were strong early on better crop and weather advices, but they did not sustain the full advance.
The only feature of the Anthracite Coalers was another short break in Susquehannah and Western preferred.
The market closed strong.

By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager.
New York, May 31.—Cotton opened off on a disappointing Liverpool and a desire of some room traders to sell what they had bought before the holidays. From abroad we find the demand very indifferent, the supply being good. Crop accounts are poor from the southwest, but show some imprevement in the Atlantic states. The conservative people here are looking for improved weather south and lower prices. The following is the range of cotton futures in New York today:

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, May 31.—(Special.)—The hot weather of the last few days has checked the rising tendency of cotton, both here and in Liverpool, and prices were somewhat easier today. August opened at 7.22, declined to 7.16, and after fluctuating during the afternoon closed steady at 7.17@7.18.

Notwithstanding the decline the undertone was good, throughout the day and there was no lack of buyers at every concession. The best informed traders here, while admitting that the weather is at last favorable for cotton, think that the crop cannot make up for the damage already done and the time already lost. Trustworthy advices from the south assure us that no matter how favorable the rest of the season my be, it will be impossible now to make a full crop. Upon every break we favor buying. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

month of April, net increase, $600,269.

New York, May 31.—New York News Bureau by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager.—The stock market was dull but irregularly strong.

Sugar was erratic and finally gained over 1 per cent on buying, credited to an operator over the rail.

Gas was firmer on a more promising legislative outlook in Illinois.

Rubber advanced nearly 2 per cent, but reacted 1 per cent.

General Electric was sustained by the reopening of negotiations for a business agreement with the Westinghouse Company.

Distilling and Cattle Feeding was only steady, but the Influstrials, as a whole, had a better tone.

Tennessee Coal and Iron rose 1 per cent on a further advance in southern pig iron.

Pacific Mail advanced over 1 per cent on the good effect produced by the company's annual report.

An advance of 4 per cent in Mobile and little time past, and this, in conjunction with duliness and depression in Liverpool, sluggishness in Manchester, large receipts at Bombay, a decline in some other commodities and local and southern liquidation for long account caused lower prices. Heavy rains and floods are reported in Texas. The exports from the ports today were relatively large, being about 16,000 bales, and it looks as though the short interest was increased somewhat. As a whole the condition of the crop is believed to be unfavorable. It is late, the acreage is smaller and there is a large party friendly to cotton who believe that the yield this season will be much smaller than the last.

New Orleans Crop Statement.

New Orleans Crop Statement.

New Orleans, May 31.—New Orleans cotton exchange crop statement from September 1, 1894, to May 31, 1895: Port receipts 7,885,679 bales, against 5,794,685 last year. 4,890,485 year before last and 6,925,978 for the same time in 1892. Overland to mills and 1,205,288. Interior stocks in excess of September 1st, 39,975, against 50,226, 83,456, and 172,813. Southern mill takings, exclusive of consumption at southern cutports, 632,883, against 638,887, 617,302 and 567,192. Crop in sight at the close of May, 9,520,085, against 7,307,235, 6,421,97 and 8,816,218. Crop brought into sight for the month of May, 142,727, against 140,834, 148,635, and 195,353. Crop brought into sight for the seven days, 40,769, against 46,590, 42,494 and 63,141.

In consequence of the shrinkage of the movement the weekly statement will be discontinued for the rest of the season.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, May 30.—Summary Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s cotton letter: While our market was closed yesterday, Liverpool improved, but closed tonight quiet, and steady at 2 points lower than the quotay tions of Wednesday. Our market has declined some 6 points in answer to the decline abroad, and the builtish feeling which has been so dominant during the past tendays is conspicuous by its absence. The feature of the market is the relative strength in New Orleins, which market, under the influence of a threatened corner in August, has approached closely to the quotations of New York. The market closes quiet at about the lowest prices of the day with little demand excepting from arbitrage dealers with New Orleans. The Liverpool market will be closed till Tuesday. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Trading Was Quiet and Wheat Closed

Trading Was Quiet and Wheat Closed

Two Cents Lower.

Chicago, May 31.—Wheat trading today was of a quiet and rather more settled character than at any time in over a month. There was considerable profit taking by longs and a general squaring up of accounts for the month. The session having been abbreviated out of respect to the memory of the late Secretary of State Gresham and tomorrow being another short day, there was an indisposition on the part of operators to do little in the way of trading. Aside from the reasons for a light trade the day was oppressively hot and contributed to the indifference shown.
Prices opened lower on the rains which fell yesterday and last night through the western states, Immediately after the start there was enough demand developed to cause a fair recovery, but as the buying support was soon exhausted a second decline set in, which received impetus from the forecast of further showers for the winter and spring wheat sections. July wheat opened from 79½075c, sold between 80 and 78%c, closing at 78%c—2c lower than Wednesday. Cash wheat was easier and 1 cent per bushel lower.
The receipts of corn continue heavy, Today there were 1,030 cars inspected. For tomorrow 1,400 cars are estimated. The predicted falling off in the movement does not take place, and the feeling continues to weaken on the bountiful supply. Today's market was at most times a slow one. Wheat was declining, which made it all: the more easier for corn' to do so.
July corn cepened at 53c, declined to 52%c, clossing at 52%c-24/6%c lower than Wednesday. Cash corn was 1 cent per bushel lower.

There was a very active trade in oats today, the rains and the weakness of wheat and corn leading to realizing by longs.

The prospects of mere showers tonight and Provisions—The hog market was 5000c lower this morning, and product reflected that weakness by declining all around. Being a holiday market, some realizing sales took place and some shorts being covered. At the close July pork was 17½c lower than yesterday, July lard 10c lower and July ribs 7½c lower.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

By private wire to J. C. Knox, manager.
Chicago, May 31.—With good rains west of the Mississippi river and hot, dry weather east, the trade in wheat during the early part of the session today was somewhat perplexed to know just what stand to take, although at the close of the session the bears have had considerably the better of the deal. The local operators, as a rule, are inclined to take the short side in hopes that rain will soon relieve the drought in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Yet they are keeping very close to shore. A few more days of such weather as we are now experiencing would certainly be detrimental to the crop. Country buying is on a greatly reduced scale compared with last week. The local crowd is lending very little support except in a scalping way. The amount of wheat sold for short account is, we believe, small. The prediction for tomorrow does not suggest rain tonight, though we are promised cooler weather tomorrow night. The Cincinnati Price Current, estimating the winter wheat yield 70,000,000 smaller than a year ago, and stating that we will have an insufficient surplus for export purposes, caused a small spurt from opening prices, which were from % to 1% colour the weather forecast, but toward the close became heavy, selling at 78% c.

Coarse grains have been weak on the rain in the western states. Country men living in those sections sent selling orders. Fourteen hundred cars do not show much letup in receipts. The market has been much narrower.

Provisions have been dull and a little lower on the decline in grain. There is little or nothing to say about the market.

The Atlantas faced the Montgomerys and nearly fifteen hundred lovers of the game the same time yesterday.

The game was one full of interest, too, from start to finish, and lasted an inning longer than games usually last, the inning extra being full of quick, snappy playsplays, too, that carry a doubt with the result from the inception of the play till

Manager Knowles lined his men up as he has been doing since the team has been playing at home with Wood in the box and Armstrong behind the bat, while Manager Hayes presented Bailey, the lefthander who worked for Macon once, and who was then a terror to the Atlantas, with Kehoe to do the catching.

Nichols, the umpire who was so severely and disgustingly abused Thursday by the Monigomery team, was in his place, and did good work. The only objection that could be made to the work Nichols did was his close decisions on Wood's work. He was too severe on the youngster, work. He was too severe on the younger, and more than once gave him decidedly the worst of it, but Wood stood his punishment like a man, and kept on putting them right over the plate. He gave up four bases on balls, but in more than four bases on balls, but in more than one of the gifts he was given decidedly the worst of it by the uppire. Still, Nichols's work was as good as the average work of an umpire, and it was very seldom the spectators gave him a touch of that gentle, sarcastic roast an Atlanta that gentle, sarcastic roast an Atlanta crowd can give up.

In the ninth inning, when the score stood four to three in favor of Montgomery, and it looked like the game was lost, McDade was given his first on McAuley's error and was cheverly sacrificed to second by Smith. It was then Wood's turn to bat, and because Callahan was a drove the ball high and far into left field where Jack Hayes was grazing, and neid where Jack Hayes was grazing, and, of course, Manager Hayes pulled the ball in, but before he could send it to third McDade had sprinted the ninety and was that much nearer home. Delenanty came along with a single and McDade scored and tied the score. It was then that the people went wild, and shout after-shout went up for the house.

It was then that the people went wild, and shout after shout went up for the boys wearing the Atlanta uniform.

The Montgomerys came to bat for the ninth and Callahan stepped into the box to do the twirling. The people did not like that and wanted Wood to finish the game, asserting that Callahan was not warmed up and could not win. Wood would have been put back but the rules would not allow his restoration to the game after a change of that kind. Some thought he was taken out because he could not hold up and that thought came after the game was over. That was not the reason he was relieved, but it was because Callahan was considered a more certain hitter.

But those who thought that Callahan could not win because he was not warmed up were mistaken, for he went into the game with the pace that showed he was good at any stage of the play. In the ninth for Montgomery he struck out the first man, while the next one flew out to Friel and the third was pulled out of the clouds by Callahan himself.

In the tenth, after Armstrong had flown out to Hayes, Friel singled and then Good-enough did the same. Hornung flew out to Armour and then McDade found the ball for two bags. Those plays put Friel over

Montgomery got three men up in the tenth, and the first one was struck out, while the next two dled rapidly before reaching firs

The Game Today. The Atlantas will appear before a home crowd for the last time for two weeks or more this afternoon, and the game will be one that will go into the championship computation. It is not an exhibition game, but a game upon which the standing of the two lubs will hinge.

On account of the result of the work Thursday the directors have consented to throw the gates open to the patrons of the game for the day and every one will be admitted to the grounds free. The Atlanta management, though not receiving a cent for the day, will have to pay the Montgomery team the amount of the guarantee just the same as though the money was taken in at the gate. ager Hayes yesterday that under no conditions should he play the championship game unless the management would pay the amount of guarantes, and this the At-lanta management has, of course, decided

The home management realizes the fact that there will be a great scramble for the grounds before 1:30 o'clock, the hour for which the game is booked, and in order, to give the regular patrons and the ladies who have been so generous in coming out a chance to see the game without being molested by any objectionable characters, has determined to charge the regular price to the grand stand for all who want to go in. This is done to hold that portion for the ladies and the gentlemen with them. But of the money that will be taken in at the grand stand not one penny will go to the purse of the club.

One half of the amount will be given to dren's ward in the Grady hospital. The game will be called at 1:30 o'clock, and the gates will be open to all, except the gate to the grand stand

Professor Daly's Exhibition.

The athletic exhibition tonight in the rooms of Professor Dan Daly will no doubt attract a large number of people.

There will be some clever sparring in the arena. Several soldiers from the barracks will be on hand for the first time

While Riding His Bicycle He Has a

Congestive Chill. Mr. Harry Lewis, son of General J. R.

Lewis, ex-postmaster of Atlanta, is quite ill in Marietta. His father was called to his bedside yesterday. Mr. Harry Lewis and Mr. Vol. Bullock

Mr. Harry Lewis and Mr. Vol. Bullock started yesterday morning for a spin on their wheels, Rome being the objective point. Before reaching Marietta the neat became so intense that Mr. Lewis was taken quite ill. At first it was thought that he had been overcome with heat, but later it was found that he was suffering with a congestive chill.

Mr. Bullock deserted his wheel and did all that could be done to make his companion easy, and then notified his father, who twent to him. Then Mr. Bullock continued his trip to Rome, taking the train, however, for the rest of the journey.

Seventeeth Round—Lavigne landed on the body and kept on fighting on a clinch. Both exchanged punches, but Everhardt was tiring, evidently. Lavigne forced the fighting, while Jack clinched at every opportunity.

THE KID WON THE GO

The lovers of the squared circle in Atlanta watched the result of the Lavigne-Everhardt battle night before last at the Coney Island Athletic Club with a great deal of Everhardt was quite a favorite with many because of the fact that he is a southern boy, while the unfortunate turn Lavigne had with Andy Bowen, resulting in Bowen's death, drove many from the "Kid's" corner, a feeling of superstition actuating them.

Athletic Club, Coney Island, May 31.—Following are details of the fight last night: It was ten minutes after 10 o'clock when the police having weighed the gloves carefully, Everhardt and Lavigne shook hands and received final instruction from the referee. Everhardt's seconds were Charley White, Billy Hamilton and Billy Sillock, all of New York, while the "Kid" was looked after by Tommy Ryan, of Chicago; Harchallenge the winner for $500 a side or a purse.

First Round—They sparred for an opening. Everhardt got in his left lightly on the face. Lavigne got in his left on the back of the neck and followed with his right on the ribs, and they clinched. After some give and take play they clinched several times and the round ended.

Second Round—Lavigne led off with the left on the ribs and Everhardt returned with a right hander on the jaw. Everhardt landed three straight drives for the face and cleverly avoided a right-hand swing from the "Kid," Lavigne put in a hot one on the ribs and some pretty fighting followed.

his right on the face, Lavigne forced his man to his corner, where he slipped to his knee. Lavigne having landed his left on lack's jaw.

Ninth Round—After some sparring, Jack jabbed the "Kid" on the face, and followed it up with one on the ribs. Everhardt got in a sharp right on the side of the neck, Lavigne landed on Everhardt and rolled him back a couple of feet, following it up with a 'left hander on the eye.

Tenth Round—They sparred for an opening. Lavigne got in a hot one on the breast and following it up forced his man to the ropes. Everhardt landed on the nose twice. Lavigne forced his man to his own corner and landed on the jaw.

Eleventh Round—Everhardt jabbed his left on the side of the face and got away safely. After some sparring Lavigne forced Jack to his own corner and landed on the body. He repeated the dose, Jack got in his left on the eye. The "Kid" got in two lefthand jabs and a good body blow.

Thirteenth Round—They sparred awhile and Lavigne his man to the ropes and nailed him three times on the body. The "Kid" got in a hard left, which almost forced Jack to his knees.

Fourteenth Round—Lavigne got in a hard one on the face and they clinched. A sharp exchange took place and Lavigne got in a terrific right-hand punch on the body. The "Kid" got in three blows to Everhardt's one, but the southerner was very game and took it smillingly.

Fifteenth Round—They exchanged viciously, Jack landing two left hand straights and Lavigne's nose bled, The "Kid" missed coming in and got two sharp ones for his pains, Jack got in another stiff right-hander on the cheek. They exchanged right-hand swings.

But a Very Good Crowd at the Races

Yesterday. Latonia, Ky., May 31.-Seldom has such intensely wilting heat, swooped down on Latonia as that of today. It had little effect on the crowd, however, which was large and as enthusiastic as the circumstances would permit. There was nothing on the programme that was above the very ordinary, and, of course, nothing specially interesting resulted. In the fourth race, Sadtereging resulted, in the fourth race, saudlebags, a 25 to 1 shot, came under the wire a winner, but was disqualified for fouling Egbart and the race was given to Egbart with Terrapin second. The Oak's Stakes at Epsom.
London, May 31.—The race for the Oak's stakes of 1.40 sovereigns was ran at Epsom today and the result was; Sir J. Miller's bay, filly La Sagesse, by Wisdom, out of St. Mary, won; A. W. Cox's brown filly Galeottie, by Galopin, out of Agave, second; Lord Bradford's bay filly Penkridge, by Zalot, out of Blue Ridge, third.

In the betting La Sagesse was at 12 to 1 against, and Galeottie 20 to 1 against. Fifficen started.

La Sagesse won by a length and a half and Galeottie was a length and a half ahead of Penkridge. Time, 1:38 1-5.

of Penkridge. Time, 1:48 1-5.

It is thought that he will not face the starter again this season. He may never race again. The California crack came east to take part in the Brooklyn handicap, but ran unplaced. Since then he has started three times. He won one race in imposing fashion, but was subsequently defeated by Keenan, and yesterday by Stowaway and Ajax. Asaph Yesterday. Washington, May 31. "Dick" Corbley, twenty-four years old, jockey for Frank Wier, the turfman, had his neck broken during the last race at the St. Asaph, Va., during the last race at the St. Asaph, va., race track this afternoon. Corbley was ridfing Kirkover, who, at the time, was running sixth in a five-furiong dash. As the horses made the turn at the home stretch, Kirkover fell, and two other horses. Charley R, and May Trwin, fell over him, and consequently upon the unfortunate rid-er. Corbley, whose neck was broken and he died instantly. George McLaughlin, who rode Charley R, had his collar bone frac-tured. Punch, one of the horses running close behind Kirkover, became jostled by the accident, and a little further down the stretch he, too, fell, and broke his leg. He was afterwards killed.

Corbley, who was from Jersey City, was conveyed to the house of Frank Wier, who lives near the track. McLaughlin was removed to a Washington hospital. The accident is supposed to have been due to the poor condition of the track, which is dotted with small dangerous holes.

A HANGING IN TATTNALL.

The Condemned Man Said He Was Not Prepared To Die.

Reidsville, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Irvin Bush, alias Irvin Birch, colored, was hanged here privately at Reidsville jail today. The drop fell at 2 o'clock. Bush's neck was broken, and he was pronounced dead in six minites. He was convicted at the April term of the superior court for the murder of John McGallister, colored, at Lyons, last December. Burch's state-ment was that he killed McGallister to get his wife, she having promised to marry him. Burch took a gun and went to John's house and started to shoot him in the door. A woman stepped in the way, Bush went off, but returned in about an hour and shot McGallister through a crack in the house. A colored minister was with Bush on the gallows. After singing a hymn prayer was affered for the condemned man. After prayer, the rope was adjusted. Bush said his sins had not been

The American Association of Waterworks Men Has Adjourned.

ALL THE DELEGATES GOT AWAY

They Were Greatly Pleased with Atlanta The Kimball House Is Free of Delegates for the First Time in & Month.

The waterworks, men have departed. Yesterday morning President Ryle and the delegates from New York boarded their special car and left for the north.

A few scattering members of the associa tion remained during the day to get a more thorough look at Atlanta, but last nigh they too departed, and now the fifteenth annual session of the American Waterworks Association is a thing of the past.

The convention will be called in Indianapolis next year, and will be presided over by Captain Richards, of Atlanta, who was elected president Wednesday. It was a fitting tribute for the work he had done for the association, this high office which has neen tendered him. peen tendered him.

From a practical standpoint the American Waterworks Association is regarded as one of the highest organizations of the country Through its agency and through the ex-perimental work of the members great changes have been wrought in the appliances for giving the people of the United States better and purer water. As a scien-tific institution it has also worked wonders, for the theories advanced during the annual session are disseminated and discussed throughout the whole land.

This position of president, which has been tendered to an Atlanta man, is of no small honor. It is an honor not only to Captain Richards, but to Atlanta herself.

There was another fitting token during the session just adjourned, and that was the presentation to Captain Bob Clayton. He did good work for the association and lost no opportunity to make the waterworks men have a good time,

Mrs. Ciayton was also instrumental in en tertaining the ladies who accompanied the delegates. It was through her efforts that the carriage drive was prepared, and she added much to the other social features. But it was a great surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Clayton when Colonel Gardener, of New Orleans arose and in a peat speech New Orleans, arose, and in a heat speech presented them with a handsome silver ser-

"I shall return," said Secretary Milne, "I have never seen a city with such push and energy, and that has in such a short time accomplished as much as Atlanta has. shall return, and expect to be here when the exposition opens up."

The election of Secretary Milne, by the way, was the only sensation of the present session. It had been agreed upon that the report of the nominating committee would be accepted. It was for that purpose that it was appointed, and when the name of Mr. C. A. Jones was presented instead of that of the old secretary, it caused a huge surprise.

The report caused a split immediately, and headed by Colonel Gardener the Milne forces rallied and after an exciting vote put him in for another term.

For the first time in three weeks yesterday the confidence of the Kimball were free from the corridors of the Kimball were free from convention delegates. The place wore a deserted and rather desolate appearance after the stir and hubbub of this convention month that has just passed. The bunting still hangs—the only remind-er of the thousands of conductors, Pythians, rocers and waterworks men.
